Church Property Is Sold at Whiteport

Plans for a new Catholic church to be located along Route 32 in the Whiteport-Bloomington district, were disclosed today following the filing of a deed at the county clerk's office transferring the former St. Patrick's Church property at Whiteport to Robert Ablove of Kingston.

The property was purchased by Ablove and his partner, Michael Spada, 46 Crane street, this city.

Such church fixtures and furnishings as have been left in the building during the approximately seven years in which it has been inactive, will be removed, it was learned, and the new owner will make such renovations as are necessary for business purposes.

The church, it was learned, was built in 1893 to serve the Whiteport-Bloomington district. Its purchase recently by the Kingston men was reported as the beginning of a move which will mean a new church as near as possible to the main highway through the region, as soon as conditions permit. James Is Named By Health Group

County Health Executive Is 3rd Vice-President of Association

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., July 31 (AP)—Dr. Leon Sternfeld, director of the State Health Department's division of medical rehabilitation, declared today that chronic disabling diseases are on the increase.

Dr. George James, Kingston, health commissioner of Ulster county, yesterday was selected third vice president of the New York State District Health Officers Association, which is meeting in conjunction with the conference.

Dr. Sternfeld, in an address prepared for the closing session of the 43rd annual New York state health conference, described degeneration of the heart, blood vessels and nervous system as typical chronic disabling diseases undergoing "an accelerating increase."

"The term rehabilitation is used for activities that aim at the conservation of human resources and such conservation is increasingly needed," he said.

"Persons having certain types of injuries or illnesses who in the past died are living, but with residual defects," Dr. Sternfeld added.

In another prepared address, Dr. Howard A. Ruck, director of rehabilitation for New York University's College of Medicine, declared that rehabilitation of the handicapped is "one of America's greatest postwar problems" and added:

"Modern medicine and rehabilitation, however, have made it possible for our disabled to be restored to economic usefulness and social productivity."

New York University, Dr. Ruck said, is establishing an institute of rehabilitation and physical medicine—the first of any medical school in the country—which will take "the patient from the bed to the job."

Mower Sells His Woodstock Store

Woodstock, July 31 — Mower's Food Market in this village which had been owned for several years by Fred Mower is now being operated by William Mower, who took over the business July 1, it was learned today.

The store one of the oldest and best known markets in the Catskill mountains, was purchased by Mower from the F. B. Happy Company, several years ago and it was then renovated and enlarged. The business was operated by F. B. Happy for more than two decades.

Kingston Milk Council Refuses Increase Put in Effect Elsewhere

Price of milk will remain the same here in Kingston but the cost of by-products will be raised a cent or two, Addison Jones told The Freeman this morning following Wednesday night's meeting of the Kingston Milk Council at the Farm Bureau office, John street.

Milk dealers in Kingston, decided to keep the present price although other cities along the Hudson river have hiked the price from one to two cents a quart.

Catskill dealers have announced a jump of two cents a quart effective Friday while in Poughkeepsie, the price also will be raised tomorrow.

Price changes listed by the Kingston Milk Council effective Friday, August 1, include: three cents a pint more for sour and light cream while heavy cream will be advanced 10 cents a quart and two cents a half pint. Butter milk also will be raised one cent while chocolate milk remains unchanged.

Last night's special meeting was presided over by Austin Simmons, president of the Kingston Milk Council.

To Protest Dog Sentence

Pedskill, N. Y., July 31 (AP)—Miss Charlotte Mishkind says she is going to protest the sentencing of her dog to life confinement in the local jail, "dog can't live tied up the rest of his life." City Judge Robert J. Brooks yesterday handed down the sentence for Tige, a veteran of the Army K-9 Corps, on the complaint of Miss Mishkind's neighbors. Having nipped two boys and fought a neighbor's dog, Tige is to die if found unconfined. "He hasn't a pretty face and might be taken as mean," Tige's mistress said, insisting he was as gentle as ever despite his two and one-half years as an Army sentry dog.

No Further Action

Washington, July 31 (AP)—The Federal Rent Control Office, with a wary eye on Congress, has decided against further action on its own to lift ceilings from any of the 614 areas remaining under control. Future policy, an agency official told a reporter privately today, will be for the federal office to check the decontrol question to the local advisory boards authorized under the new rent law enacted last month.

Local Advisory Groups Proposed For 'Merit' Plan

Will Help Formulate Standards for Salary Increments for School Teachers

Albany, N. Y., July 31 (AP)—Formation of local advisory groups to help formulate standards for the new "merit" salary increments is proposed by the state advisory committee on teachers salaries.

The 21-member state group also recommends that "full use of teacher opinion" be used in establishing the promotional requirements.

The committee meeting, the second in less than a month, opened yesterday and will end today.

The committee said in a statement that creation of local advisory boards "with teacher representation" will insure "a democratic and fair progress of rewarding superior merit."

Many communities plan to pay more than the new state-man-

Bodies of Two Sergeants Are Found in Palestine

Jerusalem, July 31 (AP)—The bodies of two young British sergeants kidnapped as hostages by Irgun Zvai Leumi were found hanging today from two eucalyptus trees and were blasted to bits by a booby trap when British soldiers started to cut them down.

Jewish settlement police found the bodies in a forest preserve near Natanya, just 24 hours after Irgun, extremist Jewish underground organization, announced it had executed the Britons in reprisal for the hanging of three Irgunists convicted in a prison delivery.

The area was cordoned off and dogs were turned loose in an attempt to pick up the trail of the killers.

In Jerusalem, top Palestine government officials met to map a rigid campaign against underground violence. One official said plans under consideration included a demand upon the Jewish agency to cooperate actively in stamping out underground attacks.

In London, Prime Minister Attlee placed the entire Palestine situation before his cabinet.

When the soldiers started to cut the bodies down after an hour-long probe for mines, the booby trap exploded behind the body of Sergeant Clifford Martin. It blasted to bits his body and that of Sergeant Mervyn Paice and scattered the pieces over a wide area.

The blast wounded one grenadier guard in the face and threw several bystanders to the ground, including Photographer James Pringle and Correspondent

Two Men Are Hurt As Trucks Collide On Hill at Accord

Broadway Hill Construction Work To Start Monday

Asphaltic Concrete Surface Will Be Put Down; Other Street Repairs Being Made.

Construction work on the Broadway hill extending from Rogers street to Ferry street will get underway early Monday morning, Ernest A. Steuding, superintendent of Public Works announced today.

This work will be started while other projects on the city's streets will be continued as part of the $100,000 appropriation to repair 15 city streets which was approved by the Common Council earlier this month.

Superintendent Steuding said that asphaltic concrete, the same material which is being applied to the other section of Broadway, will be used. It is known as the steam dispersion process.

Meanwhile, workmen are still engaged on the project from East Union street to Hasbrouck avenue where the same material is being applied to the top of the street.

Work also will be started on Newkirk avenue. This project will be started as soon as the Union street work is completed. Workmen will re-set the curb on Newkirk avenue and will re-shape the street surface when public utilities are corrected.

Superintendent Steuding also revealed this morning that B.P.W. workmen are engaged at Glen street working from Washington avenue to the end of that point. Mr. Steuding said that the work was half completed this morning and with favorable weather, the project would be finished Tuesday night.

Meeting May Be Called

Washington, July 31 (AP)—President Truman is expected to call for early September the first meeting of the new 12-member commission to study and make recommendations on reorganization of the executive branch of the government. Former President Herbert Hoover probably will head the group created by a joint congressional resolution sponsored by Sen. Clarence Brown (R-Ohio). Brown told a reporter that Mr. Hoover expects this to be his "last public service."

The concern is to be known as J. Ellis Briggs, Inc., and the other members of the corporation are Mrs. Isabelle Briggs, secretary and Donald E. Briggs, son of the High Falls couple, vice-president.

The building is of one-story construction 40 by 30 feet with a basement. It is being built by Elton Parry, Jr., High Falls contractor.

Mr. Briggs announced that he has a franchise with the Westinghouse company to handle its line of appliances and that he will also market Socony Vacuum bottled gas. Three persons will be employed in the store.

The High Falls man said he has had 21 years experience in the appliance sales field and was with the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation sales department for 20 years. He has been employed recently by the Nash-Kelvinator Company as district manager of six counties in this region.

The concern plans to expand its business into the farm machinery field in the near future. Mr. Briggs said that insofar as he is able to learn there is "no other operation like it" at present in the region.

One Man in Serious Condition; Trucks Belong to Town of Rochester

One man was seriously injured and another sustained less severe injuries when two trucks belonging to the Town of Rochester Highway Department crashed on the Lawrence Hill Road near Accord at about 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, according to a report released by the sheriff's office today.

Joseph Piscopo, 18, of Accord, is in the Kingston Hospital in a serious condition, hospital authorities said, from severe injuries to the head, chest and back, with possible internal injuries.

Robert Roosa, 38, also of Accord, suffered nerve injuries to one arm. His condition was reported as good.

Roosa was driving a 1941 Chevrolet dump truck down Lawrence Hill, the report stated, and Piscopo, who was a helper on the truck, was his occupant. The Chevrolet was followed by a 1946 Walters dump truck, which was towing a road grader. The Walters was also damaged.

Briggs Will Open Appliance Store Near Airport Inn

A modern electrical and gas appliance store will be housed in a structure now being built near the Airport Inn, Albany avenue extension, it was announced today by J. Ellis Briggs, Inc., president and treasurer of a newly formed corporation for operation of the business.

The building, which has been under construction for about two months, is nearing completion and the store is expected to open during the latter part of August.

The line of gas and electrical appliances for urban and rural use will be handled at the store which is of modern design and will be about two-thirds plate glass for effective display purposes.

The concern is to be known as J. Ellis Briggs, Inc., and the other members of the corporation are Mrs. Isabelle Briggs, secretary and Donald E. Briggs, son of the High Falls couple, vice-president.

Chiefs Said Plans Not To Liking

Lovett Says Joint Staff Leaders Did Not Lean to Plan to Construct Flying Boats

'Concern' Is Told

W.P.B.'s Action Upset Staff Chiefs, Lovett Reports

Washington, July 31 (AP)—The joint (Army-Navy) chiefs of staff declared in July, 1942, that diversion of materials to a huge flying boat program would be "inadmissible," it was developed today at a Senate investigation into the award later that year of the Hughes-Kaiser contracts for three such boats.

Robert A. Lovett, now undersecretary of state, testified to the Senate War Investigating Committee "as to the stand of these top army and navy officers."

He read into the record a letter which Robert P. Patterson, then undersecretary of war, wrote five years ago yesterday summarizing the position of the joint chiefs of staff.

Lovett at the time was assistant secretary of war for air. Patterson wrote the memorandum to Donald M. Nelson, then chairman of the War Production Board, which later that year gave Henry J. Kaiser, west coast shipbuilder, and Howard Hughes, aeronautical engineer and film producer, an $18,000,000 contract to construct three huge flying boats.

Under questioning by Senators O'Connor (D-Md.) and Cain (R-Wash.), Lovett said that the W.P.B.'s action in letting a contract to Hughes and Kaiser "caused concern" on the part of the joint chiefs of staff.

He said he knew of no other case in which the W.P.B. had undertaken to become the purchasing agency, adding that it involved "a hazardous and unusual approach" to have a third agency competing with the army and navy in ordering combat equipment.

Contracting Agency

"The War Production Board suddenly became a contracting agency and it caused the armed forces concern to the point that it was discussed by the joint chiefs of staff," Lovett testified.

On September 12, 1942, Lovett testified, he wrote a letter to Nelson to confirm information he had received that the W.P.B. had awarded a contract to the Kaiser-Hughes company for three of the 200-ton craft. He said he understood they were to be built of "non-strategic materials."

Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich.) of the subcommittee asked whether the letter constituted War Department approval of the project.

"No, sir, it was not," Lovett replied. "It was in response to a request."

The army "did not desire" to underwrite Kaiser's project, calling for production of planes similar to the 70-ton Martin Mars, he said.

Lovett's testimony opened the fourth day of the Senate group's public inquiry into approximately $40,000,000 worth of airplane contracts held by Hughes.

Ferguson told newsmen that he expects to call John Meyer, Hughes publicity man now on Capitol Hill.

Counsel's Ruling Halts Delay, Says Loughran Correct

Legal Opinion Upsets Chairman Hoe's Stand That Public Works Approval Is Needed; Loughran Cites Power Given Authority by Governor

David Barnard Steinman, famous bridge designer and one of the world's foremost authorities on suspension bridges, has received and acknowledged his designation as engineer for the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge, it was announced today.

The announcement came from James F. Loughran, of this city, member of the New York State Bridge Authority, who introduced the resolution July 9 designating Mr. Steinman. Mr. Loughran's resolution was offered at a meeting of the New York State Bridge Authority at the authority's offices at the Rip Van Winkle Bridge, Catskill.

Releases Communication

Mr. Loughran released to The Freeman a communication from Executive Secretary William K. Hagginbotham dated July 30, 1947.

The communication reads:

July 30, 1947

Mr. Loughran:

I notified Mr. Steinman last Monday of his designation as engineer of the Authority and have this day received his acknowledgment of same.

HAGGINBOTHAM.

The official notification was the result of insistence on the part of Mr. Loughran, following passage of the resolution July 9 and The Freeman's exclusive story July 10, that Mr. Steinman had been designated.

Bridge Authority Chairman Robert Hoe, Poughkeepsie, publicly denied July 11 in the Poughkeepsie New Yorker the designation of Mr. Steinman. Chairman Hoe said that under terms of the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge law no such action could take place without the concurrence of State Commissioner of Public Works Charles H. Sells.

Counsel Upholds Loughran

Mr. Loughran dissented with Chairman Hoe on this point and said that under mandate from the governor the Bridge Authority is allowed to make its own appointments. The matter was taken before Bridge Authority, counsel and the legal opinion expressed supported Mr. Loughran's contention.

Under terms of the Wicks-Hatfield Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge measure, which was signed last Spring by Governor Thomas E. Dewey, construction of the bridge would be made through concurrence of the State Commissioner of Public Works and the Bridge Authority.

Work of Senator Wicks

The Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge law was the culmination of several years of work on the part of Senator Arthur H. Wicks of Kingston, Senate Finance Committee Chairman. The bill was sponsored in the Senate by Senator Wicks and in the Assembly by Assemblyman Ernest I. Hatfield, of Dutchess county.

Mr. Loughran, who in addition to his Bridge Authority responsibilities is Ulster County Superintendent of Highways, has continually pledged his efforts to "fight for the bridge" and "to do all in my power to aid the project." The official designation

Teddy's Wapiti Hunted
Sportsmen from Auckland now are becoming interested in herds of wapiti in the hinterland of New Zealand's North Island, which are descendants of three bucks and seven does presented to the Government by Theodore Roosevelt in 1905. Two Manapouri sportsmen, C. and W. Thompson, who recently went in search of the almost forgotten wapiti, found that the animals had increased. They brought back 20 skins from the Gallsnack River area and expected to sell them at $15 each. Moose also were introduced into New Zealand's wilds many years ago but few have been seen lately and those that exist have become extremely wild.

German Victims Taught

After Henry Hynd, Socialist Member of Parliament, criticized expensive upkeep of "an exclusive Polish girls' school" at Klnochranoch, Scotland, investigation showed it was undermanned, poorly furnished, overcrowded and housed such girls as: Jadwiga Grabowska, 19, whom the Germans used for experimental purposes at Ravensbruck prison camp; Christina Krawczuk, 18, who had to carry victims to the ovens at Belsen and had the mentality of a child when she arrived at the school, and Maria Polczyk, 15, and Irene Koniczna, 14, orphans, selected by the Germans "for the purpose of propagating the German race."

There were 159,000 motor buses in the United States in 1946.

Crash on 9-W By-Pass

A slight collision between two trucks on the 9-W By-pass early this morning resulted in minor damages to both vehicles, according to Corporal Joseph Viskocil of the Lake Katrine State Police Barracks. No personal injuries were sustained and no arrest made. A large truck of the Denver-Chicago Trucking Co., operating out of the Secaucus, N. J. terminal, and a truck of the Mercer Motor Express Co., of Burlington, Vermont, the former operated by William Clayburn, 29, of Round Lake, Ill., and the latter by Harry Gonyea, 46, of Burlington, collided lightly, resulting in damaged fenders to both vehicles.

Virginia Hill
Decides to Return To United States

By JOSEPH E. DYNAN

Paris, July 31 (AP)—Virginia Hill, rich friend of slain Benjamin (Bugsy) Siegel, was reported today to have decided to go back to the United States.

David Green Hollywood press agent, said last night that the pretty, 30-year-old vacationer, whom he described as a friend, would leave by plane probably today.

U. S. Embassy spokesman substantiated his report that she wanted to go home, but said he doubted she could get away today because she had lost her passport and about two weeks would be needed under normal circumstances to supply her with a new one.

Miss Hill was in France June 20 when Siegel, 42-year-old gambler, was shot to death from outside a window as he sat reading a newspaper in her palatial Beverly Hills (Calif.) home.

Informed of his death two days later upon her return here from the country, she said: "It made me sick."

Subsequently she twice was reported hospitalized.

The newspaper Parisien Libere said July 16 she had been treated in Monaco for an overdose of sleeping tablets.

Yesterday the U. S. Embassy said it had taken her to the American hospital on a telephoned report from the Ritz Hotel Sunday night that she needed medical attention.

Her ailment was not named. However, Green said that she had seemed highly nervous since returning from the Riviera last Wednesday and that Thursday night a French friend who entered her locked hotel room through a back window found her unconscious on her bed. She was revived, he related, but remained in a state bordering on hysteria.

Green expressed belief Miss Hill had been advised to return to America. A spokesman said the embassy had given no such advice. He said it had no authority to do so, since any traveler with a French visa could stay here as long as French authorities will permit.

Catering Course Urged

Verbs and vegetables may mingle on the school menu of the Isle of Man if the education authority in Man adopts the proposal of the island's Caterers' Association. "Latin may be all right from an academic point of view," says the caterers' spokesman, "but as catering is our main industry here, we want it taught in the schools."

HIGHLAND NEWS

Highland, July 30—Mr. and Mrs. Richard Burton are spending this week at Lewey Lake and part of the time Mr. and Mrs. Frank Woolsey are with them.

The meeting of the Ladies Aid is held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Samuel Farnham, Washington Beach, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. Theron Yawn and daughter who occupied the upper apartment in the former Clarence J. Elting home moved Monday to Poughkeepsie.

The men's club of the Presbyterian Church are to hold a barbecue on the church grounds August 20.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver J. Tillson spent a night last week at Meads in the Catskills and were accompanied home by their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Calame of New York who are summering here.

Mrs. Dora R. Haight and Miss Eliza Raymond returned Sunday after spending a few days in Round Lake. They were accompanied by Jeffrey Haight who remains this week.

The U. D. Society meeting Saturday afternoon with Mrs. L. H. Starr had the necessary 70 blocks for the 61st and 62nd afghans. The members knit them and they are crocheted together and fringe put on them by Miss Laura Harcourt.

Miss Belle Brinckhoff gave an account of the picnic held two weeks previous with Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Mackey. Attending were Mrs. Joseph Mellor, who presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. A. Jerome Pratt, Mrs. Mabel Hasbrouck, Mrs. Charles Champlin, Mrs. Fred Willklow, Mrs. Thomas Sears, Mrs.

Fred L. Vail, Mrs. Howard Wilcox, Mrs. Abram Rhodes, Mrs. Joseph Preston, Mrs. G. Hallock Mackey, Mrs. Harry Colyer and her guest, Mrs. Harold Ford the Misses Laura Harcourt and Belle Brinckhoff and the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Jack Weaver, Delmar, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Crossman, Chicago, who had been vacationing at Nantucket, were Saturday night guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Jerome Pratt.

The sessions of the Presbyterian Sunday school will resume on Sunday at 9 o'clock.

Mrs. Joseph Preston will move from the former C. J. Elting house to the lower apartment in the Ossie House on Vineyard avenue, as soon as changes are made.

The meetings of the Girl Scouts are discontinued until the second Thursday in September.

Mrs. Harry Colyer is hostess to the Friday luncheon and bridge club.

Mrs. Leon Burnett is spending this week with her daughter in Franklin.

Mrs. Getrude Hanna returned to Plattsburg Tuesday after a month with her niece, Mrs. Edwin Clark.

The postwar relief and salvage sewing committee of the Highland Council of Church Women have received 50 pairs of rompers and directions for making and are anxious for those to sew to make them up. The material, donated by manufacturers is all new. The completed articles are used at home and abroad through the Foster Parents' and American Friends Service, a strictly non-sectarian project. This particular shipment comes from the Philadelphia Committee of Post or Relief Sewing. Mrs. Jacob Schuhle, Mrs.

Ella Burchill or Mrs. Heston Woolsey will see that any volunteer sewers in the community may share in this project. There is a need for the garments as early in August as possible. If these garments can be made material for layettes, equally needed, will be sent for the making.

Mrs. Mabel Hasbrouck and daughter, Mrs. Arthur Seidel, of Milwaukee, were Friday luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hasbrouck, Poughkeepsie.

Mrs. John J. Batten and daughters are spending this week with her father, Arthur E. Merritt, at Mohonk Lake.

A dead branch, about eight inches across, fell from a tree at the corner of the Methodist Church kitchen Monday afternoon. The kitchen, an extension of frame was broken by the branch which tore the frame and broke a window. The branch had weight enough to tear the gas stove from its base and move it across the room.

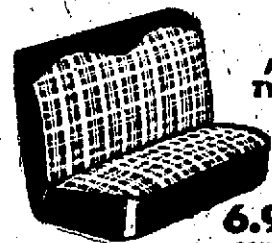

The Rev. Oscar Jelsma, who is expected to occupy the pulpit of the Presbyterian Church for the first time on Sunday, will preach from the subject: "We Preach Not Ourselves."

There were 5,000 fewer motor vehicle dealers in the United States in 1946 than in 1941.

TEA-BAGSAIR POWER
IS PEACE POWER!*HELP BUILD AMERICA'S AIR POWER
ON AIR FORCE DAY, AUGUST 1ST

No one today questions the fact that the whole future of the United States may rest in the very clouds over your head. The security of this country demands strong, well-trained, well-equipped Air Forces, superior to any in the world.

And the new, reorganized Air Forces give thousands of eligible young men an opportunity to take an active part in building America's Air Power... on the ground as well as in the sky.

You may, for example, enlist in the Air Forces for three years. If you have a specialty which will qualify you, you may also be able to enlist in a grade at higher pay.

If you have had Air Forces experience, you may join the Air Reserve and continue your military aviation training outside of business hours.

Or you may join the Air National Guard and perhaps become eligible for advanced technical training at special Air National Guard schools.

On Air Force Day, make a point of finding out everything about your Air Forces—especially the new Aviation Career Plan described below. Full details can be obtained at your U. S. Army Recruiting Station.

NOW—THE WORLD'S GREATEST OPPORTUNITY FOR A CAREER IN AVIATION

Today the Army Air Forces offer high school graduates an unprecedented opportunity to get the finest aviation schooling on earth—and select your school or course before you enlist.

The AAF Career Plan is unlike anything ever offered before. It permits selected high school graduates to apply and qualify for AAF specialized courses of their own choice. Simply go to your U. S. Army Recruiting Station, advise the Recruiting Officer, the kind of aviation training you want and he will provide you with an application blank and a complete list of available courses.

When you are selected to attend the course of your choice, you enlist in the Army Air Forces for 3, 4 or 5 years. After your basic training period you are guaranteed the education you have selected to make you a specialist in the type of work you have chosen.

Get a list of all the schools and courses open to you under the AAF Aviation Career Plan at your nearest U. S. Army Recruiting Station.

SHERLOCK'S RETURN

Admirers of Sherlock Holmes will be thrilled by the announcement that two unknown manuscripts about the great detective have been discovered. Lying undisturbed among Conan Doyle's papers, the manuscripts have just been found and turned over to John Dickson Carr, a Londoner who is writing a life of Doyle.

One document is a play, which may hamper the ardor of the Holmesites, who want their stories pure and undefiled. It is called The Crown Diamond and has a character Col. Sebastian Moran, the big game hunter who tried to kill Holmes one night by firing an air-gun at him from across the street.

The other manuscript bears the title, Some Personalities About Mr. Sherlock Holmes. Apparently it tells how Doyle came to conceive of his fictional masterpiece.

The Baker Street Irregulars and other organizations of Holmes enthusiasts in the United States and Great Britain will not let Mr. Carr sleep until he gives the new texts to the world.

CZECH-POLISH AGREEMENT

According to an article in Business Week, an agreement recently signed by Czechoslovakia and Poland may change the economic face of central Europe. It covers trade relations and power use, as well as agricultural transportation programs.

These two nations are determined not to be dependent in the old way upon Germany's industrial development, and they want insurance against any world economic crisis. The Czechs will provide Poland with iron, steel, tools and machinery, and Czechoslovakia will get outlets to the sea and transportation to these ports. Power stations will be jointly constructed, and commissions are working on canal construction projects and agricultural set-ups.

This is an encouraging bit of news which bodes well for the future. The seaport problem has caused conflict for generations, and this simple solution of it, along with the other forms of industrial co-ordination, should give at least two countries in Europe some practice in working together. From economic co-operation may stem harmony and mutual understanding. If two can do it, others can.

The housing problem has become so serious that people in Cleveland are said to be stealing houses and moving them away at night. It must puzzle the owners when they wake up in the morning.

TUBERCULOSIS CONTROL

New York State, continuing its expanded tuberculosis control program, announces the purchase of several modern mobile chest X-ray units. The high-power machine with which the mobile units are equipped makes it possible to photograph a person's chest in the fraction of a minute.

Because of its mobility the unit can be made available to the most remote sections of the state as well as to urban areas. Operation of these units should make it possible to increase the number of New York residents receiving this important public health service.

Early tuberculosis must be seen and not heard, says the health commissioner. X-ray will reveal tuberculosis in the lungs before it can be diagnosed by physical examination. Consequently X-ray facilities must be available readily if the many cases of the disease among presumably healthy persons are to be discovered.

There is no end to life's perils. A midwestern vacationist, swimming peacefully in a lake, had his leg broken by a hitskip motorboat.

GOING AFTER BUSINESS

After several years of sales frustration, the nation's business men at last have goods to sell and they are going after their markets in a big way.

'These Days'

By George E. Sokolsky

THE JAPANESE TREATY

Japan was defeated by the United States. Soviet Russia played no part in that defeat. At no time and in no manner did Soviet Russia play any part in our victory over Japan. The Russians came into that war after Hiroshima—that is, after the first atomic bomb had been exploded over Japan. The Russians came into that war after the Japanese had invited the Russians, as neutrals, to intercede with the United States for an armistice and a peace. In fact, the Russians came in about six days before the American war with Japan collapsed.

Yet the Russians have been butting into the Japanese situation as though they had played a principal part in that war. They were neutral while our boys were fighting the Japanese in jungles, on coral islands, even on their own soil. Not a single battle did the Russians fight against the Japanese; but when it was all over, they pushed ahead, rapidly stealing the machinery of Manchurian industry.

So far, out of Soviet Russia's non-participation in the Far Eastern War, they have been given half of Korea, succession to the Japanese economic system, and the Kurile Islands. Now they want to tie up the peace treaty with Japan in that nonsense called the Big Three, so that Japan may remain at the mercy of the Russian veto.

Actually, the peace with Japan is the concern of all the Pacific nations. It is more the problem of China than any other country. In its solution, the Philippines are definitely more involved than any European country. To attempt to hold a peace conference with Japan without including China and the Philippines is ridiculous. Also concerned are all the nations that assisted in the victory. Australia, New Zealand, India, Great Britain. The United States has invited 11 nations; if the Russians choose not to come, let them stay at home.

The State Department permits itself a peevish policy toward Russia. We blow fierce fire in the matters of Greece and Turkey; yet, we tried to force Chiang Kai-shek to go into partnership with the Chinese Communists, an armed branch of the Third International. We object to the Russians going into Hungary but we say little or nothing about their activities in Czechoslovakia. Secretary Marshall says that he has tried 10 times to get Communists from the State Department but he wants aid sent to Russian satellites.

There is no clear-cut, sure policy. The reason may be that the present administration has inherited commitments from the prior administration from which it does not know how to recede. For instance, the State Department has promised not to know how to back away from unfinished orders for industrial goods for the Russians for which we, not they, must pay. The State Department is unable to tell the Russians in Korea that we shall manage our half as we please whether they like it or not.

The State Department assumption must be that if this country spurs the Russians will be very very angry. Has this country reached such a state that it is already scared to stand up for its rights? We had lots of courage against Hitler. Why not against Molotov?

At any rate, in this matter of a treaty with the Japanese, the situation is clear. It was our war. We did the fighting. We licked the Japanese. They have acknowledged that we defeated them. The United States sent its greatest general, Douglas MacArthur, to govern Japan. His accomplishments are beyond belief. For the first time in history, the conquered people; he did not rob them; he did not abuse them. He seized no territory, enslaved no people, destroyed nothing. Instead he rebuilt a nation. He educated its young. He taught them to live in freedom.

And it is Douglas MacArthur who says that Japan should have a peace treaty forthwith and should re-enter the family of nations. So let it be done—quickly, justly and in the American spirit. This is strictly an American matter. Let's keep it that way.

That Body of Yours

OCCUPATIONAL TREATMENT

One of my earliest recollections is that of watching inmates of a mental hospital opposite my home, working out in the fields. I was told that these patients were not very crazy. I was safe for them to be doing something and they recovered sooner. Today this doing some useful work is called occupational therapy (treatment) and is recognized as an important factor in restoring the mentally ill to health.

Work, employment, is necessary to mental and physical health. Galen in 172 A.D. wrote "Employment is Nature's best physician and essential to human happiness."

In the Canadian Medical Association Journal, Dr. Henry F. Wright, Montreal, states that, broadly speaking, there are three main types of occupational therapy which are used in the convalescent treatment of rheumatoid arthritis, the commonest type of rheumatism. These are (a) functional, (b) diversional, and (c) pre-occupational or pre-vocational.

In functional therapy, the aim is to restore the function of a part of the body or diseased muscles, nerves or joints by carpentry, weaving, leather work, modelling, pottery and other work; "in fact, any productive work which interests the patient and at the same time exercises the desired muscles. The object being to restore the patient to a suitable earning position."

The diversional therapy includes the simple arts and crafts, hobbies or other handicraft activities, which are aimed to generally taught in public and preparatory schools. Dr. Wright points out that success in diversional therapy depends upon psychological insight, ingenuity and unselfishness on the part of the therapist or instructor.

The pre-occupational or pre-vocational therapy means careful supervision in a sheltered workshop to develop aptitudes and interests in a definite occupation, with a view to preparing the patient for the new trade or profession. By the above methods of treatment not only is the arthritis condition improved but the morale is raised.

Finally, the fact that the arthritis is working alongside others, similarly afflicted, encourages him to persist with the treatment.

Chronic Rheumatism and Arthritis
Sufferers from chronic rheumatism and arthritis will find many helpful suggestions as to diet, heat, massage, and other aids in Dr. Barton's book, let entitled, "Chronic Rheumatism and Arthritis." whole states are organizing trade tours consisting of train loads of men and exhibits. These exhibits show not only what the state has to sell, but what it has to give in the way of manufacturing sites and good manufacturing conditions. The rail tours are routed through important cities, and plane trips have been organized to show Latin Americans what the United States has that they may want.

The depression which many pessimists keep on predicting may be held off, if not entirely prevented, by projects like this. Such dynamic methods are a sure way to keep our economic condition healthy.

Question of Congressional Power Over Liquor Sales Arises, Because of 'Misleading' Advertisements

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 31.—As Congress grows angrier to regulate the sale of intoxicating beverages?

This question arises because a subcommittee of the Senate Commerce Committee has just recommended that the Federal Trade Commission be empowered to declare "misleading" certain advertisements being used by liquor dealers if those advertisements or broadcasts suggest that the use of liquor will promote health or social standing or describe its use as in accordance with American tradition or family customs.

Apparently the senators who are advocating such legislation are not aware of the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States, in an opinion rendered by Justice Brandeis on November 9, 1936, which held in effect that the so-called commerce clause of the Constitution no longer applied to the liquor traffic and that the only source of federal power today is the Twenty-first Amendment.

This decision caused considerable comment at the time because it was so wide-sweeping. The case involved the imposition of an import fee by the state of California on the sale of beer in that state by dealers outside the state. The state imposed on dealers inside the state the same fee. This would plainly have been unconstitutional under the commerce clause but that the Twenty-first Amendment superseded that clause.

Many people have believed that when the Eighteenth Amendment was repealed, the situation reverted to that which existed prior to its adoption and that federal power over the transportation of intoxicating liquors is now much the same as it was before, namely, a simple exercise of the right to regulate commerce and to prohibit or to regulate the flow of any article of commerce.

Actually, however, the rights of the states on liquor trade have been declared supreme by the Twenty-first Amendment. They can set up monopolies inside their states and make any regulations they wish with respect to the liquor traffic and be untouched by the federal power. Thus, a many of the states today have their own stores and their own system of advertising and sale and distribution.

It would appear that the federal government cannot by any legislation interfere with or curtail such sale. Indeed, the power of Congress to regulate the manufacture and sale of intoxicating beverages which was specifically granted to the federal government by the people when they ratified the Eighteenth Amendment was specifically taken back by the people in the first section of the Twenty-first Amendment.

The Twenty-first Amendment says: "The transportation or importation into any state, territory, or possession of the United States for delivery or use therein of intoxicating liquors, in violation of the laws thereof, is hereby prohibited." The sole federal power, therefore, is contained in the states may require in keeping out of their jurisdiction products which they do not want. There is no corresponding power of Congress to keep out of these states the products they do want and do sell.

The effort to curtail sales of intoxicating beverages by enacting legislation dealing with "misleading" advertisements implies that Congress, under the power to regulate interstate commerce, can also regulate advertisements that sell goods in interstate commerce. This might well be true of any other classification of products except those specifically dealt with by a particular article of the Constitution.

Thus, in the so-called "Young's Market" case in 1936, the contention of one party was that the rules of the Twenty-first Amendment did not apply because they ran counter to the Fourteenth Amendment, which forbids discrimination as between businesses and which declares that all businesses have "equal protection" under the law. Justice Brandeis, however, in handing down the decision, wrote that a classification recognized by the Twenty-first Amendment cannot be deemed forbidden by the Fourteenth.

Hence, since the power granted to the states to handle the liquor traffic is absolute, it will be contended that neither the pure food laws nor the Federal Trade Commission Act, which are derived from the commerce-clause powers, can supersede the powers of the states granted to them by the Twenty-first Amendment.

There seems to be only one constitutional way by which the liquor traffic, whether in sales or manufacture, can be regulated and that is by adoption of a substitute for or amendment of the Twenty-first Amendment to the Constitution. (Reproduction Rights Reserved)

Town Disappears

New Zealand lists a missing town. Maps still carry the township of Ohia, but all that remains of it is a foreman row of telegraph poles surrounded by calm water. The town once stood on a narrow spit reaching into Ohia Harbor, between Whakatane and Opotiki. Encroaching seas have taken their toll and all that remains of the spit is its point, an island.

Plough Workers Vie

Ploughing contests are staging a strong postwar comeback in Northern Ireland and a record number of entries—120—fought it out in the latest one, at Saintfield, near Belfast. For the first time, four women farm workers contested. The oldest competitor was 70, youngest 14, and three was a one-armed champion from County Antrim.

Pepper to Make His Cross-Country Speaking Tour

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

Washington, July 31 (AP)—Senator Pepper (Fla.) said today he will make his own cross-country speaking tour this fall in an effort to "keep our Democratic party liberal."

The Florida senator told a reporter he has not been asked to speak for the Democratic National Committee but will follow in the wake of such Republican presidential candidates as Senator Taft (Ohio) and Governor Dewey of New York.

Dewey has stopped off in his native Michigan after a western swing with an entourage which left little doubt that he intends to try to repeat as his party's standard bearer in the 1948 campaign.

Taft, pinning a definite political label to his excursion, has announced plans for a trip that will largely parallel Dewey's.

Noting Taft's call earlier this week for "Republican" leaders to speak out "frankly" on foreign and domestic issues, Pepper said "Dewey has been imitating the sphinx to date but I think Senator Taft is going to smoke him out."

At Flint last night, Dewey told newsmen "I have no plans to speak outside New York state, literally no plans."

As for his own trip, which he has not yet mapped in detail, Pepper said he intends to "straighten out anybody who might be misled by Republican propaganda that this was a good Congress." "Any hope or idea that the Republican party might become the people's party or liberal disappeared with this Congress," the Florida Democrat said. "Its principal concern was with big business. It was not interested in farmers or small business, and it has done nothing to further the interests of women, the aged or the ill."

Ivory, rubber and diamonds are principal products of the Belgian Congo.

Apricots Mean
Good Marmalade
By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer
Fresh apricots invite the home canner. So here's an apricot marmalade for that very special jam
shelf.

Apricot Marmalade
Five pounds fresh apricots, 1
No. 2 can crushed pineapple, 3
lemons, 10 cups sugar, 12 apricot kernels, blanched.

Wash, then remove the pits from apricots. Drain the juice from pineapple. Peel lemons; cut the thin yellow rind of 2 lemons into very small pieces and slice the pulp thin. Combine all the fruit with sugar and cook until thick in shallow kettle, stirring frequently.
About 5 minutes before removing the marmalade from the heat, add the blanched and shredded apricot kernels. Pour at once into hot sterilized jars and seal. To prepare the apricot kernels: crack the seeds and remove the tiny kernels.
Place kernels in boiling water for 5 minutes to remove the thin skin which surrounds the kernel and to remove the bitter flavor.

Ripe plums make unusually good jelly, too. With this simplified recipe, add a few jars to your shelf.

Ripe Plum Jelly
(Makes about 11 six-ounce glasses)

Four cups juice, 7½ cups sugar,
½ bottle fruit pectin.

To prepare juice: Crush thoroughly 4 pounds fully ripe fruit.
Do not peel or core. Add 1 cup water. Bring to a boil, cover and simmer 10 minutes. Place in jelly cloth or bag; squeeze out juice.
(Sour cling stone plums make best jelly. If sweet plums are used, substitute ½ cup strained lemon juice for ½ cup of plum juice specified.)

To make the jelly: Measure
sugar and juice into a large saucepan and mix well. Bring to a boil over hottest fire and at once add bottled fruit pectin, stirring constantly. Then bring to a full roll-

Dorothy Wells Is Hurt When Soda Bottle Explodes

First Employee Is Hurt Below Lip When Fragments Are Thrown

Dorothy Wells, 23, 89 Hone street, employed at the Forst Packing Co., Inc., 113 Abel street, was taken to the Kingston Hospital for treatment this morning after a bottle of soft drink suddenly exploded near her. One of the numerous pieces of glass caught her just below the lip and three stitches were taken to close the wound.

According to Miss Wells, who was reached at her home by The Freeman, said the accident occurred about 9:45 o'clock this morning while at the plant. A bottle of soda was sitting on a table near her and it suddenly exploded although the cap did not come off. Fragments of broken glass flew in every direction and one piece struck her on the right side of the face.

After receiving treatment at the hospital, she was taken to her home.

Lake-Bottom Ore Probed

Russian scientists are trying to solve the mystery of iron ore deposits on the bottom of lakes in the region north of Leningrad and the Finnish-Karelian area. Oddly, after these under-water deposits have been removed, they reappear after 25 years. The ore is found in layers 10 to 20 inches thick in pellets about the size of a pea, or as fine powder. How it gets there puzzles students.

Financial and Commercial

New York, July 31 (AP)—Stocks generally regained their equilibrium in today's market but the buying was timid and activity the lowest of the week.

Some short covering and investment demand was based on the thought that three straight falling sessions to an average bottom since July 2 had placed the list in a much more favorable technical position. Bullish enthusiasm was chilled a bit by another slump in the London market after early steadiness. Climbing prices for steel and other lines still inspired caution because of the outlook for growing consumer resistance.

Dealings were sluggish from the start. While many leaders did little or nothing, advances of fractions to 2 points or so predominated near the fourth hour.

A stock divided by Magnavox and a pleasing disbursement by Grumman Aircraft listed these issues. Ahead of most of the day were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Aircraft, Norfolk & Western, Great Northern Railway, Chesapeake & Ohio, American Woolen, Schenley, Monsanto Chemical, International Paper, Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Oliver Corp., American Water Works, American Smelting, du Pont, Standard Oil (N.Y.), Am. Mercury Ward and Johns-Manville.

Bonds were narrow. Commodities tilted upward.

Gaddis May Run For Town Clerkship

Minneapolis, N. Y., July 31 (AP)—J. Russell Sprague, Nassau county executive, said today that friends were putting Hamilton Gaddis, assistant secretary to Governor Thomas E. Dewey, forward as the Republican candidate for town clerk of Hempstead in November.

"He has consented with the approval of Governor Dewey, who is, however, reluctant to part with Gaddis' valuable services at the state capital," Sprague said.

Gaddis' candidacy is contingent on his being designated by the Hempstead town committee at its meeting here Monday, but this action was considered a virtual certainty, Sprague announced, that town clerk Franklin C. Gilbert intended to retire.

Gaddis has been close to the governor for a decade, beginning his association in 1938, when Dewey was the unsuccessful candidate for governor. He was with him when Dewey received the Republican, presidential nomination and worked as an advance man in the campaign.

The Hempstead town clerk's post pay $9,000 a year, while Gaddis' post in Albany is budgeted for $8,900.

Princess Elizabeth Visits Mother's Homeland

Princess Elizabeth, heiress presumptive to the English throne, is not letting the excitement of her engagement to Lt. Philip Mountbatten interfere with her official duties. One of the items on her agenda, during a visit to Edinburgh, Scotland, was a review of troops at the Highland Infantry Training Center. Here she is shown inspecting the guard of honor, with her fiancé at rear, left.

DUTCH TROOPS ADVANCE IN EAST JAVA

Soil Conserving Program Resumed, Beatty Announces

Harry J. Beatty, chairman, Ulster County Agricultural Conservation Association, issued the following statement today:

Final action of Congress in the session just concluded provided funds for continuance of this program of assistance to farmers.

In Ulster county, farmers applied for and were approved by their community and county committees for 21 different soil conserving practices.

Payments for completing these practices are now assured.

Lime and superphosphate orders are already being delivered again.

Farmers should look over their approved applications to make certain that all soil conserving practices they will complete this year, 1947, are listed on their applications.

An interested farmer who has not made application for his share of assistance should contact this office, 54 John St., Kingston, N. Y., Tel. 1440, at once. We are authorized to take additional applications through August 30, 1947.

All farmers on our current mailing list will be advised at once by special letter.

Woman Is Turned Over to Pelham Police

Philadelphia, July 31 (AP)—Mrs. Gloria Horowitz, 21, of New York, arrested three weeks ago when she attempted to sell for $1,000 a pair of diamond earrings, jewelers said, was, worth $3,500, waived extradition today and was turned over to Pelham Manor, N. Y., police.

Detective Lieut. William Greenhalgh told Magistrate James Donnelly at a hearing that the earrings had been identified as part of the loot in a robbery last year at the home of Mrs. Raymond T. Wilken, Bronxville, N. Y. Sgt. Frank J. Gillooly of the Pelham Manor police department testified that a $500 bracelet Mrs. Horowitz had pawned here for $50 had been stolen from a Pelham Manor home.

Mrs. Horowitz, who was charged with suspicion of robbery, made no comment at the hearing. She has been free under $5,000 bail since her arrest.

Townsend National Convention Report

Reports on the recent Townsend national convention held in Washington, D. C., were given at the last meeting of the Kingston Townsend Club, No. 1, held at Mechanics Hall.

Those attending from the local chapter were Miss Mildred Niles, president; Victor Osborn, Sr., vice-president; Mrs. Victor Osborn, recording secretary; Mrs. Nellie Osterhout, financial secretary; Mrs. Alfred R. Thomas, Mrs. Luella Osterhout and Miss Joyce Auchmoody.

President Niles, in her report, quoted excerpts from speeches made by various representatives and senators. The Congressional speakers gave their analysis of the Townsend Plan and how it could be applied to relieve the economic distress of the nation.

Victor Osborn later reported on the social events held in conjunction with the Washington convention. Congressman Jay Jeffers of New York received the Kingston delegation.

President Niles also reported that plans have been made to return to Washington for the 1948 national convention.

Previous to the close of the session, tentative plans were made for a rally at Forsyth Park Sunday, August 24 when the local club will be hosts to all clubs in the Hudson valley. The public is invited.

Following the meeting a birthday supper was held in honor of all members having birthdays in April, May and June.

Rockower Appears Before Grand Jury Investigating Graft

New York, July 31 (AP)—Benjamin Rockower, who is awaiting trial on a theft charge, appeared as a surprise witness today before a Queens county grand jury investigating charges of police graft.

Rockower, who escaped in 1942 from two detectives who had taken him into custody, was brought from the Long Island City jail under strong police guard to Jamaica, where the grand jury is sitting.

He had asked to testify in letters which he wrote to Queens District Attorney Charles P. Sullivan and to the grand jury foreman.

The investigation concerns charges by Emma Polio, a bookmaker, that bookmakers had been paying as much as $1,300 to $3,000 a month to police for protection.

There was no indication as to the nature of the testimony of Rockower, who is not a bookmaker. He was sentenced in 1942 to 35 years to life imprisonment in Sing Sing on a burglary charge.

The conviction later was reversed by the Appellate Division and a second conviction was reversed by the Court of Appeals.

He is being held for a third trial in September on a theft charge.

Twelve uniformed policemen and 10 detectives were placed about the Jamaica court building when Rockower was taken before the grand jury.

An order permitting Rockower's removal from the jail was signed last night by Queens County Judge Thomas Downs.

Two Are Injured Near Schoentag's This Afternoon

Two persons were injured slightly in a two-car accident on Route 9-W near Schoentag's Hotel shortly after 1 p. m. today, according to the State Police.

The injured as reported by the troopers were Isabel H. Lee of Palmerton, Pa., bruised left knee and right elbow; and Stanley Stern, Bronx, and Milton Spahn, Brooklyn, whose injuries were not known.

The cars collided, according to the police, when Russell H. Lee of Palmerton, Pa., headed south, turning into the intersection at Schoentag's. The vehicle collided with the car driven by Milton Spahn.

Though hated in cities, the stalling is a first class destroyer of Japanese beetles, according to the U. S. biological survey.

Bouquet for a Future Queen

Further Returns Show Endorsement By Labor Voters

Labor-party endorsement of William F. Edelmutz, incumbent and Democratic candidate for mayor, Joseph Saccoman, Democratic nominee for Alderman-at-large, and several others named on the Democratic ticket, was indicated today in further primary returns at the election board.

The returns indicated only one important break of the labor party trend to endorse Democratic candidates and that was in the one district of the Eighth ward, where Joseph Bruck, incumbent and Republican candidate for alderman, and Fred Baker, nominee for supervisor, were endorsed.

Returns as compiled today indicated a closely balloted contest in the first district, Town of Denning, where the names of four aspirants for sheriff received one Labor party vote in the 13th ward making another break in the trend of the Laborites to endorse Walter Keefe, Democratic nominee, whose name was written in on nearly every ballot cast in other districts of the city and on several in the county.

The names of Edelmutz and Saccoman were written in in nearly all of the districts where Labor Party voting was recorded, but there were two or three of the dozen or more districts which have filed reports, in which the name of one or the other was omitted.

In most districts only two or three votes were cast for the candidates and the six votes in the Fifth Ward appeared to be a record for the day in the city voting.

The party endorsed Thomas Coughlin for alderman and Raymond Schatzel for supervisor in the first district of the Seventh Ward and Abraham Rosenthal for alderman and Achilles Nacarat for supervisor in the first district of the Sixth Ward.

Robert Gregg was endorsed for supervisor in both districts of the Third Ward and Charles A. Ryan for alderman in the same ward. Charles E. Smith Jr., was designated for supervisor and John Buboltz for alderman in both districts of the Fourth Ward.

James Rundle was designated for alderman in the first district of the Second Ward, but the name of Elga Curtis was written in for alderman in the same ward. The name of Bernard Pauker was also written in for mayor in the same district and in the second district of the 12th Ward.

The name of Vincent J. Fallon was written in for supervisor in the 13th Ward and that of Charles J. Cole for alderman in the 14th Ward.

City returns in the election also indicated a considerable Labor Party endorsement of William McCann for county welfare officer and a marked tendency for support of the Republican nomination of Jesse McHugh for coroner.

Frank Cullen, incumbent and Democratic candidate for alderman was endorsed in the 9th Ward and the name of M. A. Keonig was written in for supervisor.

Chile Tells of Strikes

Chile's Ministry of Labor reports in Santiago that there were 24 "legal" strikes in 1946, affecting 17,975 wage-earners, 20 being settled and four still pending. "Illegal" strikes declared numbered 135, affecting 1,916 employees and 65,025 other workmen.

Lovers' Lane Doomed

"Lovers' Lane" ceased to exist in Capetown, South Africa, when Government Avenue, oldest street in the Union, was flood-lighted its entire length during the visit of the Royal Family this spring. Formerly it was dimly lit and lined with 200-year-old oaks.

Residents Report Canvassers Are Giving Trouble

Local residents are again apparent victims of unscrupulous tactics practiced by door-to-door canvassers, according to reports about town today.

The major complaints this time appear to arise from methods used by canvassers for out-of-town photo studios, who promise speedy delivery of photographs ordered by local residents.

One woman of the downtown area reported today that the photographs have not been delivered as promised and that she knew of several others in the neighborhood who had not received proofs of the photos within the promised two-weeks time.

The Chamber of Commerce, which warned residents last year of such practices, today reminded citizens of Kingston and vicinity that they should be sure they are dealing with reputable concerns before signing any contracts.

The chamber office is attempting, it was said, to enforce a policy whereby every crew or individual canvassing in the area would be forced through cooperation of the public and the police to notify the Chamber of Commerce of its local canvassing program.

Permits to solicit in the city are currently issued by the local police, but it was stressed that many of the canvassing crews and individuals operate in suburban areas where they are not required to take that step for protection of the public.

Four different types of solicitors were directed by the local police to comply with an ordinance regulating hawkers and solicitors within a single week last year at about this time. The canvassers are apparently less numerous this year, but some appear to be as unscrupulous.

The downtown woman who complained today of not receiving the promised proofs of her pictures said that she had signed a contract for them with a Boston concern. This was July 12, she said, and she has not heard from it since.

It is advisable, the Chamber of Commerce said today, for all concerns who have canvassing agents operating in or near the city to register with the chamber. It is a protection for the legitimate canvassers and a check against those of bogus practices.

One crew of solicitors is now operating in neighboring farm districts, it was said. They have not registered with the chamber and there has been some suspicion of the service they promise the farmers and as to whether they are representing a reputable firm.

City Dwellers' Summer Cottons
Flash Bold Plaids, Huge Skirts

By EPSIE KINARD
NEA Fashion Editor

New York (NEA)—Cotton fashions will put on a sophisticated summer show of extravagant yardage, striking colors, smooth styling.

Unhampered by shortages and style restrictions, fabrics are used lavishly to make cool, crisp cotton dresses a high-fashion choice of city-dwellers.

Longer and fuller skirts give town clothes their new look of formality. Sleeves of daytime suits and dresses are long or short and puffed, to accent yardage. The lock of fabric generously used shows in longer jackets, longer waisted. Peplums, bustles, up-standing collars and whoopee-whatsies take up where full skirts leave off to add silhouette interest to both daytime and late-afternoon dresses.

Checks, stripes and plaids make bold bid for city-dwellers' favor with new taffeta-like textures and sophisticated patterns. Many checks are as big as hop-scotch squares. When muted tone-on-tone is criss-crossed with black or navy, the bold pattern links gaiety with sophistication, as in the plaid dress shown left above.

Yards and yards of crisp gingham combining old-fashioned lavender, yellow, cornflower blue and navy make a swirling skirt of mid-calf length. Stemming from the snug-waisted bodice is a high-climbing neckerchief collar which designer Claire McCardell adds as a contradiction to a sleeveless dress.

As stylized is the broadcloth suit of town-minded stripes—black on a "white-coffee" background—shown right. Black cotton collar and cuffs are designer William Bass' accessory cues. Example of new freedom with fabric is the intricate line-up of stripes to create pattern interest in a circular-cut skirt and rippling peplum.

Que Que, where there is water, iron ore of good quality and flux limestone. It will create employment for 100 European families and a trade school will be established to teach the natives skilled trades, says Chairman Musgrave of the Southern Rhodesian Iron and Steel Commission.

ESOPUS

Esopus, July 31—The Esopus Fire Department will sponsor a dance Saturday night to which the public is invited.

There will be Sunday school at 9 a. m. and church service at 9:45 a. m. in the Methodist Church every Sunday beginning this week.

Mrs. Albert George and infant daughter of Poughkeepsie are spending a few weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Scheid.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Esopus Fire Department will have a special meeting in the Fire House Tuesday night, August 5, for the purpose of arranging a bus ride to Palisades Park. All members are asked to attend this meeting.

Orchard Frost Fought

New Zealand will try a new method of reducing frost damage, according to Dr. E. Marsden, of the Department of Scientific Research, in Hastings. Because the air above the trees on frosty nights is warmer than that on the ground, a large propeller, like that on a helicopter, will be used to suck this warm air from above

84 Permits for New Buildings Issued in July

Eighty-four permits, 43 more than those issued in June for renovations and new buildings representing an estimated expenditure of $64,196 were issued in July by Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy it was revealed today.

Three permits for construction of new dwellings were estimated at $12,500 and 11 non-residential structures of $4,400.

The estimated cost of eight new garages was $4,150 and one paint drying shed at $75. One playhouse was listed at $75 and a loading platform at an estimated cost of $100.

Alterations and repairs on residential dwellings for which 41 permits were issued are estimated at a total of $19,861 and 10 non-residential structures at $10,620.

Nineteen other permits for tanks and oil burners totalled $16,815 in estimated costs.

Dutchess County Beef Breeders Field Day

The annual Dutchess County Beef Breeders Field Day will be held on Saturday, August 9, at the Ankny Farm, Rhinebeck, starting at 2 p. m., according to a report issued this morning by Edmund Bower, county 4-H Club agent.

Everyone interested in beef cattle is invited to attend the Field Day, and to enjoy the barbecue at six o'clock in the evening.

The day's events, which will be climaxed by an address delivered by Allan Ryan, former state senator, and owner of the Ankny Farm, will include programs as a D.D.T. Fly Control Demonstration conducted by Dr. A. Schwartz, Herd Classification by Professor John I. Miller and classes of adult and 4-H judging for cash prizes under the direction of beef specialist Myron Lacy and 4-H Club agent Hayden H. Tozier. A discussion on rotation and better pasture improvement will be featured by Professor E. M. Kroth.

Benin Opens Museum
Benin City, home of Nigeria's ancient art, has established a museum. Bronzes, some dating from before the coming of the Portuguese to Africa in the 15th century, feature the exhibits, mostly dug from the site of the old palace, destroyed in 1897, or from old shrines. Chiefs have lent some fine examples of traditional Benin wood-carvings and terracotta heads from shrines.

Coast Guard Hopes to Get Flying Lifeboat

Sketch above is an artist's conception of the U. S. Coast Guard's proposed twin-rotor, glider-helicopter lifeboat that can be launched almost vertically from land or water. The powered, amphibious glider would be towed behind a search plane to the scene of a sea disaster, released to land vertically, then maneuvered as a conventional lifeboat for rescue work.

Reader Service

Why do some girls get all the glamorous dinner dates, while others, equally pretty, never progress beyond the hot-dog stage? Compare their table manners—and the answer's apparent.

The well-bred girl knows that olives are eaten with the fingers, and the pls put on the bread and butter plate—not an ashtray. She knows enough to dip her soup spoon away from her, and lay it on the underneath plate—not in the bowl—when through eating. It goes without saying that she breaks off and butters just a small piece of bread at a time.

Contrast her, on the other hand, with the poor-mannered girl. This girl crumbles crackers into soup, spears bread with a fork, props her knife and fork against her plate, and, of course, always leans her elbows on the table.

Table manners is just one of the subjects discussed in our Reader Service booklet No. 45. Also covers introductions, movie manners, letter writing, tips to teens, and business etiquette.

Dutch Announce Malang Capture

Former Resort City Is Key to Central Java

By STANLEY SWINTON.
Batavia, Java, July 31 (AP)—The Dutch army announced tonight the capture of fire-scarred Malang, former resort city which is the key to east central Java.

A broadcast Indonesian communiqué said the Dutch were within mortar range and that Indonesians were applying the scorched earth policy. The Republicans asserted also their forces were within 12 miles of Batavia and had reoccupied the perimeter towns of Tangerang, Serpong and Tjimen. The Dutch declared this claim was "non-sense." This reporter found no sign of Republican activity in the general Batavia area.

The Indonesian broadcast said Malang was "heavily gassed and machinegunned" during the night, and that Republicans started fires in the city yesterday. It said Dutch planes strafed Malang.

The Indonesian broadcast said another column of the Dutch army, equipped largely with U. S. Lend-Lease and surplus war supplies, had cut nearly halfway across the waist of Java in a drive from Tegay, on the north coast, to the Bobosari area, 35 miles to the south-east. The Republicans asserted the Dutch were using a company of Japanese in the attack.

A Jogjakarta broadcast declared Indonesian shore batteries sank a "Dutch warship" off Tjiliring, in central Java.

The Indonesians said also the Dutch had occupied Labit, in Sumatra west of Palembang, but that Indonesian troops had halted the advance.

Meanwhile, Netherlands authorities, who since July 20 have been reducing the Republic's territory by military means, moved today to do the same thing by political action as well.

Rosendale Art Class Progresses

A keen interest in the use of a pencil and brush has been aroused among some of the artistically minded residents of Rosendale. An Art Class which was organized at the beginning of the year, under the direction of the Rev. Albert H. Shults of the Rosendale Reformed Church, is still continuing to meet weekly in the church hall. Thus far students have covered work in pencil sketching, the use of crayons, color harmony and are now experimenting with oils. These art students are earnestly striving to develop their talents and hope to have some of their work exhibited in the village in the near future. Those included in the picture are: Mrs. Ernest Rosler, Mrs. Benjamin Barbato; the Misses Elizabeth Dierks, Dorothy Schneider, Barbara Wilson, Dorothy Craig, Gail Anson; Rosemond LoBello and Norma Conklin; Peter LoBello, Howard Swehla and Robert Lasher, with Mrs. Shults standing in the background. (Bode Photo)

Taken to Jail

George Hochstet, 50, of Tillson, was arrested there yesterday by Corporal Charles Austin, of the Highland State Police barracks, on a charge of assault, third degree, preferred by his wife. Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Leonard Albert, Rosendale, Hochstet was taken to the county jail pending a hearing set for Friday afternoon at 1:30.

Full-fledged Drive to Land Nomination for Senator Taft

(By The Associated Press)
A full-fledged drive to land the 1948 Republican presidential nomination for Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio was rapidly taking shape today.

The 44-member Ohio Republican committee and the State's Republican congressional delegation were holding separate meetings in Columbus. Advance indications were they would formally launch a "Taft boom" on a "favorite son" basis.

Tonight, Ohioans will have a Taft rally at Columbus. The senator will speak and his address will be broadcast over 250 stations. G.O.P. leaders from half a dozen other states will attend.

Ohio Senator John W. Bricker, 1944 Republican vice presidential candidate, cleared the way for Ohio party members to unite behind Taft by announcing he (Bricker) is not a candidate and backs his Senate colleague.

As for Taft himself, he has said he will withhold any formal announcement until after he makes a cross-country tour this fall.

Thus far, the only avowed candidate is former Gov. Harold Stassen of Minnesota. Both he and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, a prospective candidate, have preceded Taft into the west. Stassen is now on the Pacific coast and Dewey is in his native Michigan, stopping on his way back to New York from a western visit.

The west, which looms as the major 1948 battleground, also is beckoning to others.

In Washington, Senator Claude A. Pepper, Florida Democrat, announced he plans a cross-country speaking tour in the fall in an effort to "keep our Democratic party liberal."

Perhaps tipping off what he intends to tell the westerners, Pepper said in an interview that the record of the G.O.P. Congress was buried "any hope or idea that the Republican party might become the people's party, or liberal."

Taft has said he intends to discuss Congress record and all issues, domestic and foreign, on his trip. He has called on other G.O.P. leaders to speak out.

This has been widely interpreted as an indirect argument that Dewey, the 1944 nominee, is not speaking out. Friends of the New Yorker say they believe Dewey will have plenty to say in due time.

He took only joshing recognition of Taft's call, telling reporters: "What am I supposed to say. 'Don't shoot until you see the whites of their eyes?'"

Bodies of Two

would come under military rule, he declared: "This is the most brutal crime they have done yet. All we've built and prayed for now lies in the dust."

Military personnel in the Natanya area, hearing the circumstances in which the bodies were found, hastened to bases.

"There will be some searches," one military source said, "and the populace may be inconvenienced a bit, but no military control is planned, at least for the present."

A doctor summoned to the scene of the hangings said the men had been dead about 24 hours—indicating they were slain within 24 hours after British authorities had executed the Irgunists in defiance of threats of revenge.

The slain men had been the objects of an intense hunt by British troops and Palestine police since they were kidnapped from Natanya on July 12 to be held as hostages for the condemned Irgunists.

Irgun Zvai Leumi had issued a "communiqué" yesterday declaring that its threats to kill the sergeants had been carried out and gave explicit instructions as to where their bodies would be found in the government forest.

Police said they now believed the two sergeants had been held prisoners in a deserted factory near the edge of Natanya since their abduction, despite the fact that the Natanya area had been repeatedly searched.

Irgun Zvai Leumi boasted openly that they never would be found alive, if the British persisted in executing the condemned men. The Irgunists were executed for their part in a raid on Acre prison last May in which more than 200 prisoners were freed and 16 persons were killed.

Persons who passed by the factory where the sergeants were believed held prisoner recalled today that they had seen two sacks being loaded into an automobile, but they made no report of the incident at the time.

Gadgets Use Up Power
Postwar sales of radios, refrigerators and electric stoves have raised a problem in Graft-Reinet, South Africa. They have so taxed the electricity supply system that the city has been forced to float a loan of $300,000 with which to expand facilities.

Cows were raised principally for their hides, secondarily for meat, and lastly for milk, in the 17th century.

Local Advisory

dated salary minimums, the committee reported.

"The situation in many localities requires this action if teacher merit is to be recognized and compensated adequately," the committee's statement added.

The advisory committee, appointed by Education Commissioner Francis T. Spaulding to assist in formulating standards upon which the controversial "merit" 94 promotional increments would be awarded, will submit a preliminary report to teacher groups early in September. A final report, based on teacher and public reaction, will be issued in December. The promotional increment plan was included in the minimum salary law for teachers enacted by the 1947 legislature. The law provides for five annual automatic increments and six merit increments, based on exceptional service to the school and community.

In Baltimore they'll do anything for "Miss Lizzie"—anything but vote for her.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

Baltimore—(AP)—"Miss Lizzie," now in her eightieth year, is one of America's unusual women.

A blue-blooded Socialist for the social register, Elizabeth Gilman is Maryland's grand old lady of dissent—a follower of political lost causes who has won her city's heart by long integrity and warm charity.

Of her someone once remarked: "Baltimore is entitled to one liberal."

"Miss Lizzie" also has been called a reformer and a "hound of heaven—extraordinary." She has been six times voted down in tries for public office on the Socialist ticket—she's run for sheriff, mayor, governor and senator—but many critics of her politics believe she would easily win any poll to pick Baltimore's outstanding woman.

She is loved—her politics aside—for the selfless way in which she has fought for people in trouble, and the vigor with which she carried out her lifelong slogan: "If you see a thing that's right, do it."

Partly deaf now and a semi-invalid, she must rest at last with her goal still uncompleted: "To Christianize the social order."

The daughter of Daniel Colt Gilman, first president of the Johns Hopkins University, she learned unorthodoxy from her father, a "trustbuster" in both politics and education.

"I first began to 'wump' in 1916," she said, recalling her dawning belief that the evils of poverty and recurrent unemployment could be cured only through major changes in the social order.

She left her own fashionable home to organize food kitchens during mill and coal mine strikes and on occasion marched on the picket line herself carrying a placard.

Clearance Campaigns.

A small and sprightly woman with great energy, she threw herself into Socialist-sponsored campaigns for slum clearance, public ownership of utilities, labor gains and old age insurance. Two years ago, cheerfully foreseeing defeat in her second campaign for governor, she said:

"Franklin Roosevelt stole a good deal of our thunder, but all of us in the United States should be grateful for that."

Her activities cost her some old friendships, but she kept her sense of humor and insisted that it was fun to be a "radical."

"We are not obliged to stick to the dull tracks of conventionality," she wrote, "but can go off independently. Who would stick to a trolley car for a pleasure trip if he could go in an automobile?"

Tomato Blight Presents Serious Threat in State

Tomato blight is presenting a serious threat to farmers throughout the state, according to Walter Baran, assistant county agricultural agent, and plants should be well protected with a copper covering if they have not been sprayed or dusted with this chemical within the last 10 days.

Baran said that Charles Chupp, extension plant pathologist at Cornell University, reports that many farmers are seeking information as to the proper spray application schedule following the present application. This will all depend on the weather, according to Chupp.

If the nights are warm, (above 60 degrees Fahrenheit) with little or no danger from rains, the next spray should be made from two pounds of water, or only a 10 percent cerate dust.

If the nights are cold (below 60 degrees Fahrenheit), the plants should be sprayed with a Bordeaux mixture comprised of eight pounds of copper sulphate, four pounds of lime and 100 gallons of water. One of the insoluble copper sprays will also prove effective. If a dust spray is used, it should be one of the insoluble copper sprays with talc, and never the copper lime dust which used to be recommended for potatoes.

Basil Stone of East Crin- stede, England, has owned her since 1915 when, as a duckling, she was designated "on the list" as a future roast. But Jimmy was spared and up to the time of her retirement as a layer, at the be- ginning of World War 2, she had laid 3,300 eggs. "She was my constant companion through two World Wars," says Mr. Stone. "Until recently, she always waddled beside me."

Dewey Winds Up Michigan Visit

Doesn't Give Support to Taft Proposal to Speak Minds

By HENRY LEADER.

En route with Dewey, July 31 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, prospective candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, wound up his Michigan visit today without giving support to a proposal from Sen. Robert A. Taft that Republicans speak their minds on national and international issues.

"What am I supposed to say, 'don't shoot till you see the whites of their eyes'?" Dewey remarked at Flint, Mich., when told Taft had said Republican leaders should speak out on domestic and foreign issues.

"I did a lot of talking in 1944," Dewey said in reference to his last campaign for the presidency. "and I was the only one who did."

Informed that Senator John W. Bricker of Ohio had pledged support to Taft and predicted his nomination at the G.O.P. national convention in Philadelphia next June, Dewey told to newsmen with a smile and in a sardonic tone:

"I'm surprised. Aren't you?" The governor indicated he would keep his mouth shut on both national and international issues until he felt the time and place opportune.

"I have no plans to speak outside New York state—literally no plans," he said.

Taft asserted in Washington Tuesday that before Congress met again in January domestic and foreign questions "should be freely discussed throughout the country, particularly by Republicans."

Taft said he planned to talk about "the issues before the country, including the Marshall plan," during a western tour in September.

The Senator will be feted tonight at a dinner in Columbus, Ohio, at which a full-blown drive to land him the presidential nomination is expected to be launched.

Neither Dewey nor Taft has announced his candidacy for the nomination.

Some Dewey friends view the Bricker pledge and the Columbus dinner as evidence that the New York governor's four-week western trip has caused Taft supporters to get the senator's campaign underway sooner than originally planned.

After a four-day visit with his mother in Grosse Pointe, Mich., Dewey left this morning for Ann Arbor to attend a luncheon at the University of Michigan's student union before motoring to Detroit to entrain for Albany.

He spoke off the record last night at a dinner given him by the non-partisan Flint City Club, whose membership includes a number of motor moguls.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

Opening Bid With Low-Count Hand

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service

At one time or another every bridge player likes to consult an expert about the bidding or play of a particular hand, but if he were to ask ten experts, he might get ten different answers. Also, strangely enough, on some hands the correct bidding does not always bring the best score.

Today's hand came up in an important tournament. Some players would say that South, lacking two and a half tricks, should not have opened the bidding, but the majority of the better players today agreed that a distributional hand of this type should be opened.

However, when North bid two hearts, South had no right to show an exceptionally strong hand with the bid of three clubs. He should have signed the hand off with two spades.

Then if his partner bid three diamonds, South would have been justified in bidding spades and clubs till the cows came home. Very probably he would have reached a six-club contract which would have been made easily.

When this hand was played, and West opened with the diamond king, and declarer discarded his losing diamond on dummy's ace of hearts, losing only the act of trumps.

Ships With Ammonium Nitrate May Be Barred

New York, July 31 (AP)—Refusal of Brooklyn longshoremen to load a ship carrying ammonium nitrate, the fertilizer that was carried by ships that exploded in the Brest, France, and Texas City disasters, raised the possibility today that ships with ammonium nitrate aboard may be barred from the port of New York.

Eighty longshoremen, who were to put general cargo aboard the SS Molda, walked off yesterday. They demanded they be given double, or "ammonium," pay, that special safety precautions be taken, and that the ship be moved to the harbor zone for dangerous ships.

Fire Commissioner Frank J. Quayle said that unless ships loaded with ammonium nitrate can be "completely controlled" he might go so far as to bar from the port of New York vessels laden with this highly explosive commodity. Quayle said he would meet next Wednesday with the Port Security Committee of the Maritime Association of the port of New York to consider tightening regulations relative to ammonium nitrate.

route back from Paris, to testify tomorrow.

In previous secret hearings, Meyer gave the senators accounts of parties at which he said Hughes entertained top Washington officials. Meyer said he hired Hollywood beauties at $100 a night and upwards to entertain at the parties.

Ferguson also said he plans to call Hughes on Saturday if the movie producer arrives from California in time. Ferguson telephoned Hughes last night to ask that he come to Washington as soon as possible.

Cut to One Boat
The original Hughes-Kaiser contract for three flying boats was later cut down to one, which has not yet been completed. Kaiser subsequently withdrew from the project, which Hughes is now carrying on.

The Patterson letter, read by Lovett, cited the need for "maximum production of combat aircraft" and said that none of the existing facilities should be diverted to the manufacture of cargo planes.

It added:
"It is very evident that any large increase in cargo plane production can be accomplished only if the production of combat aircraft is reduced, and any such reduction is inadmissible in the existing situation."

Lovett testified he first met Kaiser in 1942, probably in July, when the California industrialist called to see him and outline his program for mass production of flying boats.

He said he told Kaiser he thought that was a navy responsibility, and the army was not interested.

He said Kaiser showed him "an artist's sketch of a twin-hull high-winged boat" which he did not think was related to the Kaiser design.

Pirating' Reported
Ferguson wanted to know whether the army ever encountered any reports of labor plotting by the Kaiser-Hughes interests.

"Pirating" was a term applied during the war when one firm hired away another's employees.

"Yes, sir," Lovett replied. "He said some months after award of the flying boat contract, he had reports from a Boeing Aircraft subsidiary in Wichita, Kan., that 'there had been firing squads trying to pick up labor at the gates.'"

In reply to another question, he said they represented the Kaiser management.

Before today's committee session began, Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) said an aircraft expert's appraisal of Hughes' F-11 photo-reconnaissance plane as "hot wagon" indicated Elliott Roosevelt had grounds for purportedly pushing wartime construction of the ship.

Intense Local Interest

That public opinion is solidly and intensely behind Senator Weeks and Mr. Loughran in their dual fight for a Kingston bridge has been borne out by Freeman stories for several years. More recently in The Freeman of Tuesday and Wednesday evenings the proposal was made by Lecturer Frederick Snyder, of this city, and supported by Captain Andrew Hicks, U.S.N. retired, that the bridge be made a statewide memorial to war veterans.

Operatic Tenor Runs Afoul in Moonlight

Memphis, Tenn., July 31. (AP)—One of the perils of moonlight opera was demonstrated before 1,758 patrons here last night. Romolo de Spirito, Italian tenor from New York, was giving forth with the principal aria in the opera "Martha" at the Memphis Open Air Theatre. Suddenly he gurgled, choked and one of his high notes went into a tailspin.

He tried again and stripped another vocal gear. He finished the rendition under difficulty and then went over to the side of the stage where he coughed up an overly zealous "opera bug"—a green aphid.

Racket Is Smashed

Munich, Germany, July 31. (AP)—Military police said a $100,000 racket in army gasoline was smashed with the arrest of 11 Germans. Maj. M. I. Fass of Hempestead, N. Y., disclosed the arrests yesterday by one of his 508th M.P. investigators, Cpl. John Loos, of Buffalo Center, Iowa. German drivers of army trucks systematically stole the gasoline over a period of 19 months, Loos said, and sold it for an average of 60 marks ($6) for five gallons.

Church Group Meets

New Paltz, July 31.—Mrs. Frank Gulnac, Miss Blanche Gulnac and Mrs. Webb Kniffen were hostesses at the July meeting of the Seekers' Class and Home Department of the Methodist Church School at the Gulnac home Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Adam Koenig, president, presided.

Mrs. John Christensen was in charge of devotions and Miss Gulnac presided at the piano for singing. For the lesson study, Miss Bertha O. Metcalf read the scripture story of Samson and Mrs. E. Bond Brown the story from the book, "The Bible and the Common Reader." A short business session followed.

Communications were read including a letter from Caney Creek Community Center in Kentucky. Cards were signed and sent to "shut-ins."

Those attending, besides those mentioned, were Mrs. Harry Vandervoort, Mrs. Minnie Duryea, Mrs. Alice Martin, Miss Edna Dugan, Mrs. Frank Elliott, Mrs. Lillian Adee, Mrs. Alvin Beatty and niece, Cornelia Robinson, Mrs. Langwick as guest. Refreshments were served by the hostesses and the meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction.

Altar Set Presented

Miss Hylah Hasbrouck of Warwick has presented an altar set of two vases for flowers and two candlesticks of copper with a pewter wash to the New Paltz Dutch Reformed Church. They were made in China. They were given in memory of her grandmother, Mrs. Levi Hasbrouck (Hylah) Bevier Hasbrouck who died in 1874. During her lifetime in the community she was a loyal worker in the old Dutch church. The family homestead is the large manor house of white brick on the New Paltz-Modena road, near the Plattkill creek crossing.

P.E.O. Initiates Three

Mrs. Betsy Lent, Highland, Miss Carolyn Wygant, Marlborough, and Mrs. Jerome Hurd, Clinton, were initiated into P.E.O. Chapter A at a meeting held at the home of Mrs. P. Wilson in New Paltz Monday night. The chapter held a family picnic recently in Red Hook at the camps of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Tompkins and Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Campbell at the Country Club. The program, "The Royal Family of England," was led by Mrs. Edward Dalby of Marlborough. The next meeting will be in August.

Nationalization Is Passed

London, July 31. (AP)—The House of Lords passed today the bill nationalizing British electricity generating and distributing companies estimated to cost $1,400,000,000. The government will acquire about 190 private companies. The House of Commons already had passed the measure, which becomes effective Jan. 1. Commons must act again on minor amendments. The government announced it contemplated expansion to fill a critical British need for more electric power.

Queen Mary Leaves

route back from Paris, to testify tomorrow.

In previous secret hearings, Meyer gave the senators accounts of parties at which he said Hughes entertained top Washington officials. Meyer said he hired Hollywood beauties at $100 a night and upwards to entertain at the parties.

Ferguson also said he plans to call Hughes on Saturday if the movie producer arrives from California in time. Ferguson telephoned Hughes last night to ask that he come to Washington as soon as possible.

Cut to One Boat
The original Hughes-Kaiser contract for three flying boats was later cut down to one, which has not yet been completed. Kaiser subsequently withdrew from the project, which Hughes is now carrying on.

The Patterson letter, read by Lovett, cited the need for "maximum production of combat aircraft" and said that none of the existing facilities should be diverted to the manufacture of cargo planes.

It added: "It is very evident that any large increase in cargo plane production can be accomplished only if the production of combat aircraft is reduced, and any such reduction is inadmissible in the existing situation."

Lovett testified he first met Kaiser in 1942, probably in July, when the California industrialist called to see him and outline his program for mass production of flying boats.

He said he told Kaiser he thought that was a navy responsibility, and the army was not interested.

He said Kaiser showed him "an artist's sketch of a twin-hull, high-winged boat" which he did not think was related to the Mars design.

Pirating Reported
Ferguson "wanted to know whether the army ever encountered any reports of labor pirating by the Kaiser-Hughes interests."

("Pirating" was a term applied during the war when one firm hired away another's employees.) "Yes, sir," Lovett replied. He said some months after award of the flying boat contract, he had reports from a Boeing Aircraft subsidiary in Wichita, Kas., that "there had been hiring squads trying to pick up labor at the gates."

In reply to another question, he said they represented the Kaiser management.

Before today's committee session began, Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) said an aircraft expert's appraisal of Hughes' F-11 photo-reconnaissance plane as a "hot wagon" indicated Elliott Roosevelt had grounds for purportedly pushing wartime construction of the ship.

Intense Local Interest

That public opinion is solidly and intensely behind Senator Wicks and Mr. Loughran in their dual fight for a Kingston bridge has been borne out in Freeman stories for several years. More recently in The Freeman of Tuesday and Wednesday evening the proposal was made by Lecturer Frederick Snyder, of this city, and supported by Captain Andrew Hickey, U.S.N. retired; that the bridge be made a statewide memorial to war veterans.

Killed by Lightning
Rochester, N. Y., July 31 (AP)—A man killed by lightning was identified by police today as George H. Walker, 44, a migrant farm worker formerly of Seaford, L. I. Walker was struck last night by a lightning bolt which ripped his clothing and dug two five-inch holes in a highway pavement nearby.

Operatic Tenor Runs Afoul in Moonlight

Memphis, Tenn., July 31 (AP)—One of the perils of moonlight opera was demonstrated before 1,758 patrons here last night. Romolo de Spirito, Italian tenor from New York, was giving forth with the principal aria in the opera "Martha" at the Memphis Open Air Theatre.

Suddenly he gurgled, choked and one of his high notes went into a tailspin.

He tried again and stripped another vocal gear.

He finished the rendition under difficulty and then went over to the side of the stage where he coughed up "an overly zealous opera bug"—a green aphid.

Racket Is Smashed

Munich, Germany, July 31 (AP)—Military police said a $100,000 racket in army gasoline was smashed with the arrest of 21 Germans. Maj. M. I. Fass of Hempstead, N. Y., disclosed the arrests yesterday by one of his 508th M.P. investigators, Cpl. John Loos, of Buffalo Center, Iowa. German drivers of army trucks systematically stole the gasoline over a period of 39 months. Loos said, and sold it for an average of 60 marks ($6) for five gallons.

NEW PALTZ

Church Group Meets
New Paltz, July 31—Mrs. Frank Gulnac, Miss Blanche Gulnac and Mrs. Webb Kniffen were hostesses at the July meeting of the Seekers Class and Home Department of the Methodist Church School at the Gulnac home Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Adam Koenig, president, presided.

Mrs. John Christensen was in charge of devotions and Miss Gulnac presided at the piano for singing. For the lesson study, Miss Bertha O. Metcalf read the scripture story of Samson and Mrs. E. Bond Brown the story from the book, "The Bible and the Common Reader." A short business session followed.

Communications were read including a letter from Caney Creek Community Center in Kentucky. Cards were signed and sent to "shut-ins."

Those attending beside those mentioned were Mrs. Harry Vandervoort, Mrs. Minnie Duryea, Mrs. Alice Martin, Miss Edna Dugan, Mrs. Frank Elliott, Mrs. Lillian Adey, Mrs. Alvin Beatty and niece, Cornelia Robinson, Mrs. Langwick as guest. Refreshments were served by the hostesses and the meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction.

Altar Set Presented
Miss Hylah Hasbrouck of Warwick has presented an altar set of two vases for flowers and two candlesticks of copper with a pewter wash to the New Paltz Dutch Reformed Church. They were made in China. They were given in memory of her grandmother, Mrs. Lev Hasbrouck (Hylah) Bevier Hasbrouck, who died in 1874.

During her lifetime in the community she was a loyal worker in the old Dutch church. The family homestead is the large manor house of white brick on the New Paltz-Modena road, near the Plattkill Creek crossing.

P.E.O. Initiates Three
Mrs. Betsy Lent, Highland, Miss Carolyn Wygant, Marlborough, and Mrs. Jerome Hurd, Clinton, were initiated into P.E.O. Chapter A at a meeting held at the home of Mrs. P. Wilson in New Paltz Monday night. The chapter held a family picnic recently in Red Hook at the camps of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Tompkins and Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Campbell at the Country Club. The program, "The Royal Family of England," was led by Mrs. Edward Dalby of Marlborough. The next meeting will be in August.

Personals
Miss Ethel Addis has been entertaining out-of-town guests. Mrs. Edmund Wager of Plattekill visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wright, Sunday. Mrs. Arthur Parker is spending some time out-of-town.

Frank Ingles has returned to his home on South Chestnut street from the Kingston Hospital where he has been a patient recovering from a broken leg which he suffered in a fall on the ice last winter.

Joseph Appuzzo is ill at his home in Ardona.

Mrs. Jane Jacoby of Poughkeepsie is a guest of her nephew and wife, Mr. and Mrs. William Cramer, on the New Paltz-Highland road.

Mr. Schmid of Upper Main street is ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Coy and children with Mr. and Mrs. Fresh-ton Coy visited the Catskill Game Farm Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Conklin, now of Urbane, Ill., announce the birth of a daughter, Christine Elizabeth.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Smith of Paterson, N. J., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Smith last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Aumick of Walkill announce the birth of a daughter, Janice DuBois Aumick, born July 19. Mrs. Aumick is the former Bernice DuBois of New Paltz.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Miller are vacationing at Fish Creek.

Edgar V. Beebe and family spent a recent week-end with his son, Edmund Beebe, and family at Concord, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ackert have returned from Long Island where they have been vacationing at Northville.

The Democratic Caucus was held in the trustees' room in the Fire House Monday evening and the Republican Caucus will be held August 6 in the American Legion Hall.

A meeting of the consistory of the Reformed Church was held Tuesday evening when final plans were made for the summer festival August 27.

Nationalization Is Passed

London, July 31 (AP)—The House of Lords passed today the bill nationalizing British electricity generating and distributing companies estimated to cost $1,400,000,000. The government will acquire about 190 private companies. The House of Commons, already had passed the measure, which becomes effective Jan. 1. Commons must act again on minor amendments. The government announced it contemplated expansion to fill a critical British need for more electric power.

Queen Mary Leaves

Southampton, Eng., July 31 (AP)—Cheering crowds and circling planes saw the 81,235-ton Queen Mary off today on her first post-war voyage to New York as a passenger liner. The reconverted Cunard liner, second-biggest afloat, was due to reach New York August 5.

Executed, Says Irgun

British Sergeant Mervyn Fulge (above), one of two British soldiers held as hostages for three Jews hanged in Acre Prison, has been hanged in the government forest preserve a few miles south of Natanya, Palestine, a voice claiming to be that of a representative of Irgun Zvai Leumi declared over the telephone today. Dinner was served at the Hotel Arlington and following the meeting of the auxiliary and chiropractors, a buffet supper was enjoyed by all in the yard of the Brandt home.

Tawny Suntan Makes Stockingless Legs Look Chic and More Modest

Movie starlet Myrna Dell strokes lotion on her legs to encourage smooth suntan.

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer
A de luxe tan can make your legs look chic, more firm-fleshed and modest even in a state of undress.
Drawing the sun's gold to your legs, however, takes patience, and repeated exposure. If legs don't take a tan as readily as other areas, cover your uppers and leave them out longer.
You can hasten the tanning process if you'll expose legs to the sun near a body of water or white sand. Reflected glare on water or white surfaces increases the intensity of light rays that tan.

The tanning process is also hastened, claim many, bronze-lined gals, by leaving salt water on your legs when you emerge from a swim. Other sun-lovers say witch hazel, filmed over the skin will give your legs a tawny tint. In case you forget, make-up on legs offers interference with the sun's work. So does stubble. Strip skin surfaces clean if you're going in for leg-gilding in a serious way.

Omar to Be Filmed

Omar Khayyan, 12th century poet whose "Rubaiyat" is better known to the West than any other Persian product except carpets, is going on the screen. A company has been formed in Tehran but owing to lack of studios and trained technicians there, the leading artists will go to India to shoot many of the scenes of the film "Omar Khayyan."

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

A PERSONAL STATIONERY SUGGESTION

A letter protests: "You say to send invitations written on one's visiting cards. What on earth do you mail them in? My cards have no envelopes with them and in the ordinary stationery envelope, a visiting card looks lost and foolish. Even if I had envelopes to fit mine, they would be so tiny that they would be a nuisance to the post office and to the mailman."

The post office may find them a nuisance, but certainly they have become used to handling them through the years. In other words, whenever you order your cards, it is correct to order small envelopes to fit them. As a matter of fact, you could follow a personal practice of my own: Have the stationer cut a quire of ordinary plain white note paper into four even cards, making 96, and then buy four packages of envelopes to match. They are very convenient and give me plenty of space to write on. They are engraved exactly like my visiting cards and I like them better than "informals." They can be left at the door as well as the smaller and stiffer cards, whereas "informals" cannot.

Clergymen's Clothing

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper for a minister to wear striped trousers and either a frock coat or short black coat when he officiates at an evening wedding, where all present undoubtedly will be dressed in formal evening clothes?

Answer: Striped trousers wouldn't do at all with a frock coat. The black short coat with a clerical waistcoat and black trousers would be in best taste.

Present Giving

Dear Mrs. Post: (1) When invited to a wedding because I am engaged to a member of the family, should I feel obligated to send a wedding present to the bride? (2) If so, may I be included in the present he's sending?

Answer: (1) Not if she is a stranger to you. (2) No, better not, especially not if you don't know her. But if you know her very well, you and your fiancé could buy a present together.

Dear Mrs. Post: If pie with ice cream is called pie a la mode (whatever that means), then is cake with ice cream also called cake a la mode?

Answer: Not that I know of.

Mrs. Post has written a leaflet entitled, "Names and Signatures (Widow and Divorce)." To obtain a copy, send five cents in coin and a stamped self-addressed envelope to her, c/o Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail.

Fourth Exhibition Preview Will Be Held at Gallery

Woodstock, July 31—Miss Helen Shotwell will be hostess on Friday afternoon, August 1, when the Woodstock Artists Association presents a preview of its fourth exhibition this season.

The following members of the association have made the selections for this show: Wendell Jones, Doris Lee, Jennie Magellan, John Nichols, Bradley Tomlin, Eugene Speicher, John Taylor, Eugene Ludins and Henry Mattson.

Those invited to exhibit include Marianne Appel, Tchukbassov, Paul Bucila, Tommy Ezer, Konrad Cramer, Mary Earley, Emmet Edwards, Norbert Heerman, Albert Heckman, Jane Jones, Rozella Hartman, Raymond Kargere, Georgiana Kiltgaard, Frederick Knight, Katalavos, Joseph Pollet, Joseph Preiser, Anita Phillips, Doris Ribley, Dorothy Vardian, Eileen Robbins, Elizabeth Terrell, Andree Ruellan, Arthur Zendenberg and Yasuo Kuniyoshi.

The exhibition will be open to the public beginning August 2 through August 13.

Riding Club Will Hold Special Business Session

Woodstock, July 31—A special meeting of the Woodstock Riding Club will be held on Monday evening at 8 o'clock in Odd Fellows Hall, Bearsville.

The purpose of this meeting is to amend the by-laws with regard to election of new members. The following resolution will be voted upon at the meeting: Resolved, That the present rule for the admission of members be amended so that applicants may be elected by a majority vote of members present at any meeting.

At this meeting, too, plans will be discussed for a horse show to be held late in August.

Di Gemma Show Opens August 2

Woodstock, July 31—An exhibition of water colors by Joseph di Gemma, New Paltz, will be opened on August 2 and continue through August 16 at the Mitchell Gallery, Woodstock. A few of the water-colors included in the show are Perrine's Bridge, oldest covered bridge in New York state, Old Huguenot Burying Ground and Louis Bevier House, Huguenot Village, New Paltz, Old Freer House, Half Moon Farm, Tillson, and Observation Tower at Mohonk Lake.

Mr. di Gemma recently had a one-man show of New Graphic Arts at the Brooklyn Public Library. The purpose of the exhibit was to show that many new mediums were "still unexplored" and that improvements can be made on the old.

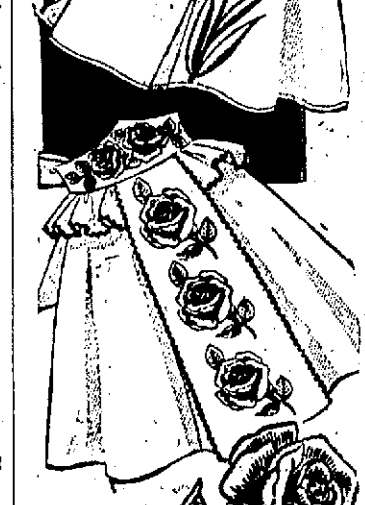

One of the subjects in the recent show "In the Burma Jungle" was purchased recently by the Brooklyn Museum.

During his two and a half years in the service, Mr. di Gemma made paintings of front line action in the China-Burma-India theatre of war and depicted life aboard a transport in the South Pacific.

Shady Fair, Supper

Woodstock, July 31—The Shady Methodist Church will hold its annual fair and turkey supper on Wednesday afternoon, August 6, beginning at three o'clock. There will be two servings for the supper, the first at 5:30 and second at 6:30.

Inventive Notions Save Seamstress Time, Work

By KAY SHERWOOD

NEA Staff Writer

Inventive "notions" now popping up on store counters will speed up home sewing and shorten chores into pleasant tasks.

Even a girl who's all thumbs with a needle and thread can turn out cartridge-pleated draperies in ten minutes with 24 pins and a new combination drapery form and arm bracket. This adjustable fixture has five tubular forms evenly spaced on a lightweight strip of steel. Straight, flat-hemmed material wrapped and pinned in slots around the forms falls into deep-curving folds. The outturned rod is attached to an adjustable bracket beside the window.

You can, with another new notion, "sew" on garment fasteners and fabric will never part company. A protruded pearl stud on metal ring backed by a metal socket is taped to one side of a placket. This makes a tight connection with an interlocking snap and post secured to the fabric on the other side of the placket.

In the kit are guiding tools to hold the small parts in position while a sharp blow with a hammer locks them into place. Another kit makes it possible to bedeck fine leather or fabric accessories with glittering nailhead trimmings punched out in designs of your own devising. The kit brings you a metal handle and a spring-based pedestal which holds the pronged nailhead in a well on top. When handle is pushed down, prongs puncture the fabric and are flattened against the under side of the material.

Arriving in time for hemline-lengthening is an upright skirt-marker with a sliding metal arm attached to a measuring ruler to indicate dress height from floor. Fabric is held in a vice-like grip between grooves on the arm while slots guide pins into a de-straight line around the skirt.

A new notion in shoulder pads separates these stuffers from dress seams and snaps them in place under lingerie straps. Two elastic strips on top of the pads anchor these builder-uppers to straps.

College-bound students who want to mark their garments as their own can get some fancy assistance from initials, imprinted in color on transfer paper. A warm iron pressed over the paper and complete directions—makes needlework easy.

Seek Solution to Jewish Refugee Problem

Jewish Refugee Problem

Paris, July 31 (AP)—The French cabinet weighed today a national assembly resolution urging it to press Britain for a speedy and humane solution to the vexing problem posed by 4,500 Jewish refugees who are staging a showdown on three British transports anchored off France's Mediterranean coast.

The resolution was adopted late yesterday by unanimous vote of the assembly, which also congratulated the French government for not attempting to impose a course of action upon the Jews.

Dispatches from Port-de-Bouc on France's southern coast reported meanwhile signs of growing restlessness among the ship-bound Jews who have refused to disembark in protest against being shipped back to France after a fruitless attempt to crash the gates of Palestine.

The discomforts of life aboard the crowded ships, which left Palestine almost three weeks ago, were increased by extremely hot weather and by a shortage of rations.

Some observers in Port-de-Bouc

Guiding tools held metal snap in place while a hammer "sews" it to the garment. Fastener top is a decorative stud.

frankly expressed belief that the British were playing a waiting game, hoping that the broiling sun might change the Jews' minds about going ashore.

Advices from London, however, indicated that the British government was at a loss as to how to deal with the problem.

Vets Treated Like Kids

Undergraduates at Oxford, many of them veterans and some married men with children, are protesting against "schoolboy discipline" which makes them liable to a fine if caught drinking in a "pub." "A few months ago I was running an organization in Italy bigger than my college," said a 27-year-old ex-major in London. "Now I have to knock on a locked gate to get in after 9:15 at night. Friends of mine who fought in Burma and the Western Desert are irritated by such nonsense."

Simpson Rallies to Get Decision Over Stevens in Main Bout

Crowd Boos Verdict; 'Tiger' Davis Defeats Joe Ausiano

Paul Simpson, the Cleveland Wonder Boy, is still undefeated in a local ring, having achieved his fourth straight victory last night at the expense of rugged Johnny Stevens, of New York, in the feature event at municipal auditorium.

But a vast majority of the perspiring cash customers didn't think so and greeted the official verdict with a resounding chorus of boos.

The rangy, elusive Stevens, a Golden Gloves finalist was leading at the start of the fifth and apparently headed for a tremendous upset when Simpson exploded a barrage of his lethal rights and turned almost certain defeat into victory. Well, at least the officials saw it that way.

Fans Sense Upset

That Simpson would not score a quick knockout was evident early and by the end of the second round, the fans sensed a real upset. Stevens, unmindful of Simpson's knockout record, boxed beautifully and threw up a staunch defense.

Stevens forced the issue in the first round after absorbing one of Simpson's copyrighted left hooks. They battled on even terms through the second and third rounds, with Stevens, the aggressor, and Simpson trying futilely to land the pay-off wallop.

Simpson Is Puzzled

The big New York Negro switched to a southpaw stance in the fourth and promptly blasted a right off Simpson's jaw. The Cleveland fighter appeared momentarily puzzled by Stevens' strategy. The latter kept Simpson off balance and scored with long lefts to take a definite edge for the first time.

Simpson's handlers knew their man had to take the last round to win. The Clevelander bounded out of his corner, threw caution to the winds, and opened a furious exchange. Stevens, who had held his ground up to then, was forced to fall inside, as Simpson drove several stiff rights to the jaw. The New Yorker despite the pounding he took was still an elusive target and Simpson was completely frustrated in his efforts to land a payoff wallop. Simpson gave Stevens quite a going over in the fifth stanza, but the customers didn't think it was enough to overcome Stevens' early lead. Simpson weighed 176, Stevens 180.

Giants Halt Blackwell's Streak, 5-4 Dodgers Cop 12th Straight, 11 to 10

(By The Associated Press)

Lanky Ewell Blackwell's sensational 16-game winning streak is at an end today, but another string—the 12 straight success of the Brooklyn Dodgers—has the baseball world buzzing.

The National League leading Brooks won their 12th straight in St. Louis in as thrilling a game as played in many a season. Few of the 31,709 fans will forget it. The game, which lasted through 10 innings and 3½ hours, had all the thrills and pathos of a World Series encounter.

The Dodgers opened up a 10-0 lead against Harry Brecheen and Red Munger in the first four innings. Cards, aided by Whitey Kurpowski's three-run homer caused a mild stir by scoring four times in the sixth to knock Ralph Branca from the hill. So things remained until the last of the ninth and it appeared all over as relief pitcher Hank Behrman quickly retired two of the first three men to face him.

Cards Rally in Ninth

Then Chuck Diering, Stan Musial, Enos Slaughter and Ron Remy slammed successive singles to bring in three tallies and knock out Behrman in favor of Hugh Casey. The veteran fireman fared no better than Behrman. Kurpowski walked, Marty Marion singled and pinch hitter Del Wilber also singled to drive in three more runs and deadlock the game at 10-10.

The Dodgers roared back in the top of the 10th. With one-out Gene Hermanski doubled and after Bruce Edwards had made the second out, Poe Wee Reese came through with a ground ball single between third and short to send Hermanski home with the payoff run.

The triumph increased the Dodgers' first place margin over the Cards to nine full games, and St. Louis now is in third place, one percentage point behind the New York Giants.

Blackwell's string was broken by the Giants, who defeated the Reds 5-4 in a 10-inning daylight tussle in Cincinnati. It was the side-arm slinger's first defeat since May 4. His overall record now stands at 18-3.

In falling three shy of Rube Marquard's record of 19 straight victories, Blackwell became the sixth to rack up 16.

The New York Yankees stretched their American League lead to 1½ games over the runner-up Red Sox of Boston by defeating the Detroit Tigers 8-5 at the Yankee Stadium while the Red Sox bowed to the Cleveland Indians 13-7 in a night game at Boston.

The St. Louis Browns pushed over an unearned run in the 11th to eke out a 2-1 win over the Senators in a night game in Washington. Young Ed Yost booted Vern Stephens grounded in the second extra frame to allow Paul Lehner to score from third with the winning run.

The Chicago White Sox downed the Athletics 3-2 in a night game in Philadelphia.

Bucs, Braves Split

Pittsburgh and Boston divided a double header, the Pirates winning the opener 5-3 and the Braves bouncing back to take the nightcap 8-5. Kirby Higbe held the Braves to five hits in the opener.

After taking it on the chin 13 times in 14 meetings with the Chicago Cubs, the Philadelphia Phils broke loose with an 11-hit attack against three Bruin hurlers to win 9-2 in Chicago.

Berardi's Wallop

Lace Mills, 19-1

The Berardi Oilers made it four in a row Wednesday night at the Armory No. 2 diamond by pounding out an easy 19 to 1 decision over the Lace Mills. The winners scored in every inning and smashed out 19 hits, including two homers, a triple and a half dozen two-baggers.

Johnny Berardi, with four four-five, Joe Watzka and Tom Martino with three bingles, led the onslaught. Joe Watzka and Benny Tiano slammed out round-trippers. Milly Berardi and Joe Amato

Big Outdoor Ring Show Is Planned

A seven-bout "Carnival of Champions", featuring seven five-round bouts will be staged by B'nai B'rith in an outdoor show at municipal stadium some time in August. The exact date will be announced later.

The card will feature several national champions and name fighters, among them: Tony Barone, Jimmy Beau, conqueror of Luis Olmo; Paul Simpson, Walby Unseld, of Dover, Ohio, the only man ever to defeat Simpson; Jackie Keough, national welterweight champion; Eddie Marotta, national amateur feather champion and Georgie Kolarick.

Pokepsie Giants Cop Two Games

(By The Associated Press)

The Poughkeepsie Giants of the Colonial Baseball League, set back twice in Bridgeport Tuesday night, took a full measure of revenge last night in another doubleheader, knocking four Bridgeport pitchers not only out of the box but out of the league. The Giants, tallying five runs in the first inning of each game, won 9 to 1 and 15 to 5.

Get Pink Slip

After the debacle, Bridgeport announced the unconditional release of pitchers Bill Vasta, who threw home run balls to the first two Giants to come to bat in the first game, Chico Yoblin, Jim Peterson and Jim Kiernan. Vasta, Yoblin and Peterson pitched in both games, and Kiernan was driven from the mound in the fifth inning of the second.

The Giants, who lost the league lead with their double defeat Tuesday, stayed in second place by a single percentage point as the Waterbury Timers walloped the Stamford Bombers 13 to 2 last night at Stamford. It was an unfortunate debut for Stamford's new Negro pitcher, Roy Lee, formerly of the Newark Negro National League club. He gave up nine runs in 5 2/3 innings.

In the only close game played in the league last night, the last place Port Chester Clippers downed the New London Raiders 5 to 2 as Bill Sahlin pitched five-hit ball.

Frank's Whip Seven-Up, 10-5

In a loose ball game marked by 13 errors and five passed balls, Frank's Sport Shop scored a 10 to 5 triumph over Seven-Up in a regular city league tilt Wednesday night at the Athletic Field.

Tonight's Contest

Hofbrau, second place club, will cross bats with the Knights of Columbus nine in another league game tonight at the Smith avenue ballpark. Game time is 6:15 o'clock, weather permitting.

Frank's victory last night enabled that club to move ahead of Seven-Up in the loop standings to eighth place. Frank's have now won two and dropped six while Seven-Up has won a pair as against seven setbacks.

Frank's opened up on Tommy Watzka for two runs in the first and poured four more across in the bottom half of the second to take a 6-0 commanding lead. The losers reacted back, however, and came to within one run of knotting the score with two in the fourth and a trio of markers in the fifth.

The winning club took advantage of some sloppy Seven-Up defense in the fourth and rushed four runs across to make it 10-5. A walk, four misuses, a stolen base and two singles did the damage.

Frank's Whip Seven-Up, 10-5

In a loose ball game marked by 13 errors and five passed balls, Frank's Sport Shop scored a 10 to 5 triumph over Seven-Up in a regular city league tilt Wednesday night at the Athletic Field.

Tonight's Contest

Hofbrau, second place club, will cross bats with the Knights of Columbus nine in another league game tonight at the Smith avenue ballpark. Game time is 6:15 o'clock, weather permitting.

Frank's victory last night enabled that club to move ahead of Seven-Up in the loop standings to eighth place. Frank's have now won two and dropped six while Seven-Up has won a pair as against seven setbacks.

Frank's opened up on Tommy Watzka for two runs in the first and poured four more across in the bottom half of the second to take a 6-0 commanding lead. The losers reacted back, however, and came to within one run of knotting the score with two in the fourth and a trio of markers in the fifth.

The winning club took advantage of some sloppy Seven-Up defense in the fourth and rushed four runs across to make it 10-5. A walk, four misuses, a stolen base and two singles did the damage.

Summer's First Real Heat Wave Is Broken Today

(By The Associated Press)

The summer's first real heat wave was broken in most sections of the nation today, and relief was promised within 24 hours for areas still sweating it out—except for the somewhat too sunny south.

Near the Ohio river temperatures remained high, but the U. S. Weather Bureau said cooler weather should move in to the area later today. Temperatures already were considerably cooler in northern Illinois, Indiana and Missouri and all of Iowa, but from those states southward no heat relief was in sight.

The Midwest was promised a continuation of the cool spell for at least another day.

Warm, humid weather working its way through the eastern states was expected to be replaced by cooler temperatures by tomorrow, from New England as far south as Virginia.

However, a warming trend was reported in the western plains states, which have already experienced the cool spell now moving eastward, and the hotter air mass was expected to begin following on the cool weather's heels in a day or two.

Scattered thundershowers were forecast for the upper Ohio valley, in New England and along the Gulf coast today.

sources could say immediately the precise nature of the proposals which Cripps will discuss with Clayton.

A board of trade spokesman said merely that Cripps wanted to see Clayton for "a general discussion of matters arising out of previous discussions" and added:

"The import program could hardly be excluded."

The spokesman said that the two men previously had planned to meet again and that the talks were arranged suddenly "only in that this particular day was picked." Cripps expects to return tomorrow.

The U. S. undersecretary has been in Paris for several days for talks with French officials about France's food position and other undisclosed matters.

Informed sources, however, have said that Britain plans to cut down her imports from dollar areas almost at once.

The plan was expected to affect primarily American movies and American tobacco, and there was every indication that food imports also would be reduced.

Jacob DeWitt, superintendent of highways for the Town of Rochester, told the sheriff that the brakes on the Walters truck failed to hold on the hill, and the truck crashed into the small Chevrolet pushing it off the road and up a bank where it turned over.

The injured men were rushed to the hospital immediately.

The Chevrolet truck was totally damaged, and the Walters damaged in the front.

HAY FEVER—How You Can Get Relief From This Plague

Hayfever time is about here, but there are ways of avoiding that unpleasant affliction. Probably the best way is to get at the root of the problem—and pull. Hayfever is largely spread by pollen, with the chief culprits being ragweed and goldenrod. Both can be eradicated, either by a chemical weed killer, or, (1), by pulling the plant out and burning it. Another way of insuring that the air you breathe will be pollenless is to escape to places that are completely free of it, such as the ocean (2). If neither of these methods is practical, your best bet is a series of desensitization injections, (3), after your doctor administers proper skin tests.

If you can't destroy ragweed, escape from it or take the desensitization treatments, you can still lick hayfever. Wear a protective mask, (4), which filters the air, or go to a theatre whose air-cooling plant includes air filtration. Pollen-free, dustless air in latter will give relief to irritated membranes. Try to avoid any activity, such as sweeping, (5), which raises dust, since dust annoys the delicate nasal membranes and makes attacks worse. Keeping your windows closed is another aid. Inhaling sulphur water, combined with pine needle extract, (6), is recommended by some physicians. Your doctor may advocate certain drugs, such as benadryl or pyribenzamine. If all else fails, you'll just have to stock up on handkerchiefs, and sneeze (7).

Operation of Comintern Topic of Radio Program

The operation of the Comintern, "brain trust" of world revolution, is the topic of the fifth in the series of radio dramas, "Safeguards for America," presented by the Supreme Council of the Knights of Columbus and sponsored locally by Kingston Council No. 275. The program will be heard Sunday August 3 at 2:45 p. m. over station WKNY.

This broadcast reveals the methods by which thousands of well-intentioned Americans are made dupes of the Comintern and unconscious followers of the Communist Party "line," and also explains how you can tell a genuine pro-American organization from a Communist "front" group, the local committee states.

Expect a Happy New Year

This latest picture of Shirley Temple and her husband, John Agar, was taken after the happy couple had announced that they expect a baby in January. The former child actress, now 18, says she hopes to continue work as long as possible.

The Girl Who Came Back

"Sweetly irritates me as much as people who expect me to be sweetly sad," says Susan Peters, now making her comeback in movies after being injured in a hunting accident that nearly killed her on New Year's Day, 1945. Now confined to a wheelchair, she's surprisingly active. She runs her household, takes care of her baby, goes swimming and hunting and now has crowned her comeback with a return to the screen. Above, fellow-stars Glenn Ford, Evelyn Keyes and Larry Parks welcome her with flowers to the set of her new picture, "The Sign of the Cross."

None Is Hurt

Oslo, Norway, July 31 (AP)—An American military plane carrying Josiah Marvel, Jr., U. S. ambassador to Denmark, tipped and crashed today after landing on a runway of Fornebu Airfield near Oslo. None of the four persons aboard was seriously injured. Marvel suffered a slight cut.

Legion Convention At Niagara Falls

Opening Session Attended by 18,000

Niagara Falls, N. Y., July 31 (AP)—The New York State Department of the American Legion opened its 29th annual convention today with an attendance exceeding 18,000 and expected to swell to 50,000 before the close of the three-day meeting.

During the opening session, Ernest H. Dervishian of Richmond, Va., national vice commander, presented to 19-year-old Alfred E. Komar of Yonkers a $1,200 National Commander Scholarship.

Dervishian said the award was made on the recommendation of George A. Loben of Tonawanda, state chairman of the Committee on Education of Orphans of Veterans, with concurrence of Leo V.

80 Persons a Day Die in Traffic Accidents in U.S.

Chicago, July 31 (AP)—Traffic accidents in the United States killed an average of 80 persons a day from January 1 to July 1, figures released by the National Safety Council disclosed today.

The council said there were 14,480 traffic fatalities in the first six months—181 days—this year, nine per cent less than for the corresponding period in 1946. Of this total, 2,400 were killed in June, an increase of five per cent over June, 1946.

However, the council said, the traffic situation was "pretty well in hand." It said the total in June was eight per cent less than in May; there were 20 per cent fewer deaths in June this year than in June, 1944, the year an all-time high in traffic fatalities was set, and that travel is on the upswing, with indications the mileage death rate for the first five months is about five per cent less than last year.

New York state showed a 12 per cent decrease in traffic deaths during the six month period. New Jersey's decrease was 17 per cent.

Valuable Ring Is Lost

A diamond ring, valued at $700, was reported lost near Esopus Lake yesterday afternoon, according to a report released by the sheriff's office this morning. Sheriff George Smith told The Freeman that Mrs. Gloria Duboff, of 612 Argyle Road, Brooklyn, reported that she lost the ring while going swimming in Esopus Lake. She did not know where the ring was lost but believed that it was between Esopus's hotel and the lake. The ring was described as having a large diamond in the center, with a marquise on each side and a small diamond setting on either end.

Memorial Coins To Help Improve Labor in South

The memorial half-dollars honoring Booker T. Washington, noted Negro educator, which are now on sale at the downtown and uptown offices of the Kingston Daily Freeman, not only affords the buyer of a fine item for a collection but also creates a vital step in the right direction for the building of a specialized industrial school at his birthplace, Franklin county, Virginia.

Uppermost in the minds of those interested in building this school is the fact that thousands of Negro veterans of World War II cannot take advantage of the G.I. training program.

The ex-veteran of this race is unable to pursue these courses because they do not have sufficient educational qualifications to meet the requirements of existing high schools and colleges. A training school of this type, the one which the half-dollar will help to make possible, will enable these veterans to receive training.

The Booker T. Washington School of Industrial Training will help to take care of the dire need of giving training to the majority of America's 14,000,000 Negroes who are below high school and college levels. The school's program will offer opportunities for

Taft Has Right Of Way From His Colleague Bricker

BY D. HAROLD OLIVER

Columbus, O., July 31 (AP)—Ohio Sen. Robert A. Taft today had the right of way from his junior colleague, Sen. John W. Bricker, 1944 vice-presidential nominee, to seek the 1948 Republican presidential nomination. Bricker officially stepped out of Taft's path on the eve of a mammoth Ohio G.O.P. rally that state political observers were certain would launch a Taft-for-president campaign on a "favorite son" basis sometime around noon.

The man who campaigned with New York Governor Thomas E. Dewey against the late Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman three years ago, stated definitely he was not running for anything in 1948. The announcement came as no surprise, here since Bricker's position with respect to any Taft presidential aspirations had been rumored for some time.

State party leaders forecast that unanimous endorsement for Taft's candidacy would come from a noon meeting of the 44-member G.O.P. State Committee and a separate conference of the state's Republican delegation in Congress.

Taft will withhold a definite announcement about his candidacy until he returns from a sentiment-sounding west-east speaking trip in the fall.

However, party chiefs and newspapermen who talked with him after he arrived last night had little doubt that his answer would be "I'm in the race."
